Crowds Cheer Prince And Princess Before Buckingham Palace

Great London Throng Halts Duke of Kent's Car to Congratulate Him and Bride-to-be

Queen Mary's Car Also Delayed

Canadian Press
London, Nov. 28. — Cheering crowds swept across the Mall in front of Buckingham Palace this afternoon, surrounded the automobile in which the Duke of Kent and Princess Marina, whom he will marry to-morrow, were riding, and forced it to stop almost five minutes before police could clear the way for its passage.

The two were on their way to a lunch with the Duke and Duchess of York.

Neither the Duke nor the Princess appeared upset before the avalanche of the crowd. Both sat back smiling in the automobile and waved their hands as members of the throng climbed up on the running board of the Duke's sports car, offering their congratulations and good wishes for the forthcoming marriage.

With increased parks, the streets swarmed across the grass and their cheers sounded into the far recesses of the palace as they whooped with delight at the close glimpses of the young pair.

TAKEN BY SURPRISE
London's sturdy bobbies, who have been practicing rigidity for days as to just how they will handle the crowds to-morrow, were taken by surprise at the hearty demonstration.

Later, Queen Mary herself, out driving with Marina's mother, Princess Nicholas of Greece, to an afternoon reception at St. James's Palace, was held up by another cheering crowd in the dense traffic jam which piled the Mall.

A dense fog did nothing to expedite the moving of traffic and mounted police were forced to clear the way for the Royal car.

The King and Queen of Denmark, riding behind Queen Mary in a second automobile, were also delayed by the enthusiastic spectators.

EX-HEIRESS TO GO INTO MOVIES

Canadian Press from Havana
Cienfuegos, Cuba, Nov. 28.—The short-lived marriage of the former Princess of Asturias and Senorita Edelmira Sampedro of Cuba ended to-day when the Cuban ex-heiress, who was reported to be a young woman, boarded the liner Berengaria here en route to New York and, she hopes, fame in Hollywood.

GUNMAN SLAIN; GUARDS KILLED

"Baby Face" Nelson, Wounded Yesterday Near Chicago When He Killed U.S. Detectives H. E. Hollis and S. P. Cowley, Found Dead To-day

Washington, Nov. 28.—George (Baby Face) Nelson was found dead this morning in Niles Center, Illinois.

Attorney-General Homer Cummings said the gangster was shot yesterday by Inspector Samuel P. Cowley and Special Agent Herman E. Hollis, who were killed in a gun fight with him at Barrington, Ill.

When the body was found to-day by federal men it was discovered Nelson had been shot five times in the stomach and twice in the chest and five times in each leg.

The body was found in a ditch clad only in underclothing.

The other garments were found by Department of Justice searchers.

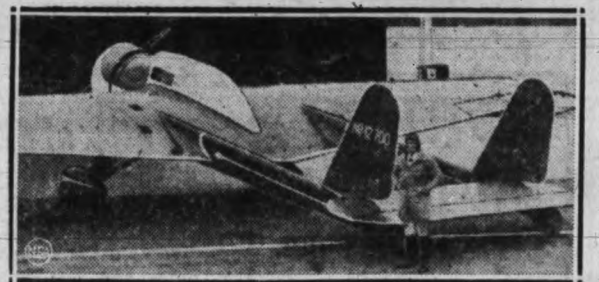

Niles Center is fifteen miles from Chicago.

"Make it clear our men shot him," Mr. Cummings said.

Nelson was considered the United States' number one criminal since the death of John Dillinger in Chicago several weeks ago. Dillinger was reported to have been killed by Hollis.

Finding of the body concluded an intensive twenty-four-hour search for

Non-stop Pacific Flight Is Planned

Canadian Press via Reuter's
Nimes, France, Nov. 28.—Mrs. Victor Bruce, well known British aviatrix, abandoned her autogiro flight from England to Capetown, to-day the remodeled speed plane pictured above, after a landing here.

A non-stop air journey from Los Angeles to Tokyo, a distance of 4,400 miles, is the aim of Monty Mason, above, transport pilot and navigator. He plans to use the remodeled speed plane pictured above. It has a cruising speed of 185 miles an hour and a top speed of 225 miles an hour. Mason is rushing his preparations for the flight and hopes to take off from the California city early in December.

Europe Mails To Close December 2

Christmas mails for Great Britain and the Continent should be mailed in Victoria not later than 1:30 o'clock on the afternoon of Sunday, December 2, it was announced here this morning by G. H. Gardiner, postmaster. By mailing letters and parcels then it will be certain they will reach their destinations before Christmas Day.

Mails for Hongkong and other parts of southern China, and for Manila will close at Victoria at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon and will be sent across the Pacific by the S. S. Empress of Russia. Mails for Japan should be posted in time to catch the S. S. President Jackson, sailing from Victoria, December 8.

WOUNDED MAN TO BE TRIED

Canadian Press
Vancouver, Nov. 28.—Joe Rosenek, critically injured two weeks ago when struck by a bullet, believed to have been fired by Sergeant G. Sunstrom of the city police, was released from hospital to-day and will stand trial on a charge of breaking and entering.

Rosenek was wounded on the night Sergeant Sunstrom fired on three men alleged to have been breaking into his chicken coop. A formal charge was laid to-day and bail was set at $1,600.

After that he became an associate with Dillinger in that bandit's roamings that followed Dillinger's escape from Lake County, Ind., jail at Crown Point by using a wooden gun.

MAN'S SENTENCE IS REDUCED

Canadian Press
Vancouver, Nov. 28.—A reduction of one year on a five-year sentence has been granted to Thomas Andrew Duncan, thirty-two-year-old marine engineer, by the Court of Appeal. The court refused to interfere with the conviction September 14 before Judge J. N. Harper on a charge of armed robbery.

PEASANTS DISPERSED BY PARIS POLICE

Associated Press
Paris, Nov. 28.—Hundreds of discontented peasants, seeking to march through streets of Paris in contravention of a government ban on demonstrations, clashed with heavy police forces to-day, but were dispersed with some of their number bruised.

FRENCH SHIP HERE JAN. 4

Warship With Complement of 660 Men to Spend Three Days in Port

The 6,000-ton French training ship, Jeanne d'Arc will visit Victoria from Friday, January 4, until Monday, January 7, it was announced to-day in a letter received from the French Consul in Vancouver, by Mayor David Leeming.

The communication expressed the pleasure of the ship's officers in accepting the city's invitation to visit Victoria and stated the ship would arrive at noon on the Friday before proceeding to Vancouver the following Monday.

Capitaine de Vaisseau Yves Donval, Officer of the Legion of Honor, former naval attaché in London, and distinguished figure in the Morocco campaign during the world war, will be officer commanding. Second in command is Capitaine de Fregate Aubert, while Capitaine de Fregate Sanson is joint officer.

The ship carries the distinguished chaplain, Reverend Father Pierre, Officer of the Legion of Honor, an artillery officer from 1904 to 1911, and an aviation officer during the war commanding the Champagne Army Air Force, who was ordained priest in 1932.

OTHER OFFICERS

BRITAIN DECLARED READY FOR DEFENCE IF CALL IS MADE

Canadian Press
London, Nov. 28.—In the event of an emergency of which there are no signs at present, Great Britain will not be caught unprepared, the House of Commons was assured this afternoon by the government, during an important debate on empire defence.

Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin, Lord President of the Council, scoffed at earlier statements by Rt. Hon. Winston Churchill that Germany would have an air force superior to Britain's by 1936 and that, in fact, she was re-arming on land and sea and in the air.

The government spokesman declared Germany's real strength was not half as much as that of Britain to-day, replying to Mr. Churchill's demand for increased defence forces, particularly in the air. Mr. Baldwin admitted a nervous apprehension had arisen in Europe, but he said for peace, and suggested Germany should ask whether it was worth while to maintain the secrecy which was causing the fear.

Mr. Baldwin earnestly pleaded that Germany should abandon her secrecy and isolation, warning that as she plays by herself "more and more suspicion will grow and it may be that more and more her own troubles will grow."

MOVED AMENDMENT
Mr. Churchill, a Conservative "dilettante," moved an amendment to the address in reply to the speech from the throne, which declared the present defence forces were entirely inadequate.

WEDDING ON AIR AT 7 A.M.

Broadcast From London Will Be Heard Over CRCV, Vancouver To-morrow

Canadians from coast to coast will to-morrow have the opportunity of hearing the actual ceremony as it is performed in Westminster Abbey of the wedding of H.R.H. the Duke of Kent, fourth son of His Majesty, to Princess Marina. For the first time a royal wedding will be broadcast and from microphones in the Abbey the marriage service will be carried to the world.

The Canadian Radio Commission announces that it has arranged to pick up the broadcast of the ceremony at Yarmouche, Quebec, the broadcast of the royal wedding, taken and transmitted by the British Broadcasting Corporation. From Yarmouche the broadcast will go directly to a coast-to-coast network.

This broadcast will be heard in Canada at 7 a.m., Victoria time. It will come to Victoria listeners over station CRCV.

For the benefit of those who are unable to listen in at that hour, the commission will repeat the broadcast in the evening by means of its blattnerphone equipment.

Every word of the marriage service will be picked up by twelve microphones hidden inside Westminster Abbey. Other microphones outside the Abbey will be used for the broadcasting of a description of the procession as it approaches and departs from the Abbey. All the microphones will be linked with a central control point inside one of the chapels of the Abbey.

Short wave listeners will be able to pick up the blattnerphone re-broadcast of the ceremonies on the British Broadcasting Corporation's transmission 5 over stations GSC, 3130 metres and GSA, 49.59 metres, at 11 p.m., Greenwich mean time, or 3 p.m., Victoria time.

FEAR ANOTHER NAZI "PUTSCH"

Vienna Authorities Alarmed at Pro-German Student Demonstrations

Associated Press
Vienna, Nov. 28.—Revolt-scarred Vienna, recently shocked by the rumbling of militia as the Fascist government guarded against a possible Nazi "putsch,"

Student riots which reached alarming proportions yesterday had subsided, but the pro-German aspect of the demonstrations left officials fearful. The memory of last summer's daring but defeat Nazi "putsch," which took the life of Chancellor Dollfuss, was fresh in their minds.

Steel-helmeted police and auxiliary forces were called out to support the already heavy forces of mounted police patrolling the streets.

The student outburst, caused by the recent anti-German riots at the University of Prague, Czechoslovakia, was interpreted as a clear indication that supporters of the Nazi cause in Austria, under cover since the assassination of Chancellor Dollfuss, are growing bolder.

Gangster Answers U.S. Tax Charge

Associated Press
Albany, N.Y., Nov. 28.—Arthur "Big Boy" Bremer, better known as Dutch Schultz, mentioned often as a New York gang leader, surrendered here to-day to United States Commissioner Lester T. Hubbard to answer to a charge he evaded federal income tax payment.

LORD ASHLEY GIVEN DIVORCE

London Ruling Is That D. Fairbanks Sr. Must Pay Costs of Suit

London, Nov. 28.—Lord Ashley was granted a divorce decree nisi to-day from Lady Ashley and costs of the action were awarded against Douglas Fairbanks Sr., named as co-respondent.

The decree, which gives the young nobleman a divorce after six months if contrary cause is not shown, was handed down shortly after the case had come before Sir Boyd Merriam, president of the divorce division. The suit was not defended and the services of a jury were not required.

Lady Ashley is the former Sylvia Hawkes, musical comedy actress, daughter of the late Arthur Hawkes and Mrs. Hawkes.

The court action to-day required exactly eight minutes. Neither Lady Ashley nor Fairbanks was in court, but Lord Ashley was there, smartly attired in a grey suit.

Lord Ashley gave evidence supporting his petition and called as a witness a "Mr. Edwards," who he said had acted as private secretary to Fairbanks from September, 1933.

MARRIED IN 1927
The nobleman testified he and his wife had lived together in comparative happiness after their marriage, February 9, 1927, until Lady Ashley went to the United States on January 27, 1934, to his wishes, and they had not lived together since.

PRESIDENT OF BOLIVIA HELD

Official Report States: Leader Seized By Troops; Vice-president in Control

Associated Press
New York, Nov. 28.—Reports received here to-day from official sources in La Paz, Bolivia, said President David Salanmanca of Bolivia had been seized by Bolivian troops in the Chaco Boreal and was not permitted to return to the capital.

The reports said fighting was expected to break out at any minute.

President Salanmanca, who had gone to the Chaco to change the high command of the Bolivian army because of its failure against the Paraguayans, was seized by the troops, the reports said.

President-elect Tamayo, President of the Senate, was reported to have been placed under arrest.

Censorship was understood to have been established and the cable offices were closed. The reports said that all wireless communication also would be stopped any minute.

VICE-PRESIDENT IN CHARGE
La Paz, Bolivia, Nov. 28.—Jose Luis Tejada Sorzano, Vice-President of Bolivia, announced to-day he had taken office in reply to the report of his arrest in accordance with the constitution during the absence of President David Salanmanca.

President Salanmanca is with the Bolivian army in the Chaco Boreal, where it is fighting Paraguayan forces.

Dr. Fortiano, in his announcement, said he was assuming power because "grave matters of state which demand solution urgently exist."

ALBERTA WOMAN HELD FOR TRIAL

Canadian Press
Medicine Hat, Alta., Nov. 28.—Charged with the murder of an infant, a woman here November 5, Mrs. Rosie Kowalski, forty-eight, was arrested by city police to-day.

The woman, held without bail, will be given preliminary hearing Thursday evening.

The charge against Mrs. Kowalski charges her with the murder of a newly born and unnamed child.

Roomers in the Kowalski home discovered the infant's body in the furnace, and at the inquest, held here November 19, testified they had heard the cries of a baby in the basement November 6.

Welcome For New Bishop of Victoria

Mayor Leeming and Hon. John Hart, With Hundreds of Catholic Community, Greet Bishop MacDonald on Arrival From Vancouver and Drive With Him to His New Home

Formal welcome to Victoria and British Columbia, on behalf of the city and the government, was extended this afternoon to Rt. Rev. John Hugh MacDonald, D.D., newly appointed Roman Catholic Bishop of Vancouver Island, by Mayor David Leeming and Hon. John Hart, Minister of Finance.

Accompanied by a score of bishops and priests from many parts of western Canada, the new prelate crossed from Vancouver this morning and landed here from the S. S. Princess Alice, Mayor Leeming and Mr. Hart met the bishop aboard the steamer.

Hundreds of members of the Roman Catholic community of Victoria were at the dock to greet their new spiritual head. With formal and official greetings over, the new bishop drove away in his car, followed by scores of automobiles, and led by a motorcycle escort, furnished by the City Police Department.

The cavalcade drove over the Causeway and to the Bishop's Palace on View Street, where the bishop is resting a few hours before being installed in office at an impressive ceremony at St. Andrew's Cathedral this evening.

WORDS OF WELCOME
Mayor Leeming extended the greetings of the city of Victoria to the new Roman Catholic bishop, and Mr. Hart spoke for the provincial government. Both hoped the new bishop's term of office in Victoria would be as successful as those of his predecessors.

Month by month they are becoming more identical in appearance. It is now difficult to tell them apart. Their little inscribed necklaces furnish ready means of identification, and their footprints are on record to prevent any mistake.

Government Seeks Evidence Whether Prices Are Unjust Or Unreasonable in Far-reaching Investigation Announced To-day; Mr. Justice M. A. Macdonald Will Be Commissioner

Gasoline Among List of Items

Profits in Production and Distribution Will Be Probed; Costs to Dealers and Consumers Involved

An exhaustive and far-reaching inquiry by a commission into the entire B.C. fuel industry, including both coal and petroleum products, was launched by the provincial government to-day.

Premier Pattullo announced the appointment of Mr. Justice M. A. Macdonald of the Appeal Court of British Columbia as commissioner to investigate the matter.

Terms of the probe indicate it will be one of the most important industrial inquiries ever held here and will cover price spreads, profits and costs of all kinds.

The products under scrutiny will be coal gasoline, fuel oil, lubricating oil, kerosene and other petroleum products used for fuel, lighting or operation of internal combustion engines.

In addition to gathering the data on these matters, it will look into the comparative economic value of coal and petroleum products, value of developing the industries and whether prices charged are unjust or unreasonable.

The investigation was prompted by the government's desire to discover the full facts of the fuel industry and has been under consideration for several weeks.

"When we have the full facts before us in the commissioner's report we will be able to deal with the situation," said Premier Pattullo.

A special meeting of the cabinet was held to-day to complete the plans for the commission. Hon. George S. Pearson, Minister of Mines, who is one of the foremost advocates for the inquiry, was absent on other official business, but had previously gone into it very thoroughly.

Showing the widespread nature of the inquiry, Premier Pattullo gave out the following formal explanation:

INQUIRY IS BEING MADE
The following matters respecting coal mined in or imported into British Columbia, and used for fuel purposes in British Columbia:

"a. The cost of production;
"b. The manner and cost of preparation for the wholesale and retail trades respectively;
"c. The cost of transportation;
"d. The cost to dealers in British Columbia;
"e. The cost to consumers in British Columbia;
"f. The profits made by persons or corporations owning or operating coal mines in British Columbia;
"g. The profits made by persons or corporations owning or operating petroleum products, that is to say, gasoline, fuel oil, kerosene and other petroleum products imported into or refined or produced in British Columbia.

Canadian Press
Jasper, Alta., Nov. 28.—The Jasper Park Chamber of Commerce sent the following cable to the royal couple, principals in the wedding ceremony in London to-morrow morning.

"H.R.H. Duke of Kent, H.R.H. Princess Marina, Buckingham Palace, London.

"Congratulations and congratulations upon occasion of your marriage, which gives joy to whole empire of which we are proud to be part.

(Signed), Jasper Park Chamber of Commerce."

Dionne Babies Six Months Old To-day

Ontario Quintuplets; Steadily Gaining Weight, Now Have Normal Life Expectancy, Says Dr. A. R. Dafoe

Canadian Press
Callander, Ont., Nov. 28.—Six months old to-day, the Dionne quintuplets are in better health than at any time since their birth, last May 28. None has any organic disorders, according to Dr. A. R. Dafoe, and all are rosy-cheeked, handsome and healthy.

Month by month they are becoming more identical in appearance. It is now difficult to tell them apart. Their little inscribed necklaces furnish ready means of identification, and their footprints are on record to prevent any mistake.

Looking back over the six-month period that has meant daily attention to his little charges, Dr. Dafoe said there were three occasions when the babies' condition had given cause for worry. The first was ten days after their birth, when all suffered weariness.

They rallied and progressed steadily until a month and a half later, when they developed bowel trouble and digestive disorders. With careful attention and nursing they overcame these ailments, but in mid-September all were ill from intestinal toxemia.

Work on their hospital home was speeded up and the infants were recovering when they were moved to their modern, comfortable quarters.

NORMAL EXPECTANCY
"They are healthy and big," said the middle-aged country practitioner to-day. "Since they were moved to the hospital they have progressed steadily. Considering everything, they have normal life expectancy of any baby, and as they grow they should be healthier than any other children."

More than 2,000 persons attended the St. James reception. The palace was so packed that more than one hour was required for those present to ascend the grand staircase leading to the state apartment on the second floor where the wedding presents were displayed.

The reception was attended by the Duke of Kent, Princess Marina and royal guests invited to the wedding. The influx of visitors for the occasion is taxing the downtown hotel accommodations severely, and traffic has been reduced to a snail's pace on the streets adjacent to St. James's Palace and Westminster Abbey.

Fog plunged festive London into near darkness to-day, but an official of the government said there would be no change in arrangements for the wedding to-morrow.

NO DANGER

Both the Princess and the Duke were up early to take care of numerous last-minute details. The Duke decided against a bachelor dinner party to-night but instead will dine with Marina and his and her parents in a small family party.

Thousands flocked into London, hopeful for a glimpse of the royal couple to-morrow as they travel to and from Westminster Abbey, where they will be married.

All London is in its best garb. Bond Street, although not on the procession route, makes a brave front with garlands of flowers criss-crossing the street and huge floral bells overhanging the intersections.

The processions to the Abbey will follow the historic way taken by the King since Tudor times. After the wedding the couple will return by a longer route. Along both, banners, flags, decorations and flowers have been hung.

TO RISE EARLY

Princess Marina will arise to-morrow at 7:30 a.m. and the ceremony at Westminster Abbey will begin at 11 a.m. (3 a.m. Victoria time). Then the couple will return for the Greek Orthodox ceremony at Buckingham Palace.

A wedding breakfast will follow, and the bride and bridegroom will drive to Paddington station and board a train to a country estate at Hilmley for the first part of their honeymoon. Later they will go to Italy.

The Duke gave the Princess a necklace, earrings, bracelet and tiara for wedding presents. They are set with rubies and diamonds and pearls.

One of the most unusual of the thousands of gifts was an elephant tusk from the Aga Khan, who, to be thorough, provided a base on which to inscribe the information that it is eight feet nine inches tall and weighs ninety pounds.

TO-MORROW'S PROGRAMME

The official programme of to-morrow's ceremonies follows: 10:15 a.m.—The invited guests arrive at Westminster Abbey.

10:35 a.m.—The members of the royal family and foreign royal families arrive at the Abbey.

10:45 a.m.—The Archbishop and other members of the clergy enter the Abbey in procession.

her father, Prince Nicholas of Greece, arrive at the Abbey.

11:00 a.m.—The ceremony begins. 11:30 a.m.—Royal processions leave the Abbey.

12:15 p.m.—Greek Orthodox marriage service in the private chapel in Buckingham Palace.

1:15 p.m.—The wedding breakfast. 3:50 p.m.—The Duke of Kent and his bride leave Buckingham Palace for the Paddington railway station.

4:20 p.m.—Train leaves for Birmingham. 6:30 p.m.—Train arrives Birmingham.

QUEEN'S GOWN

Queen Mary will wear a pastel blue and gold brocade velvet gown at the wedding to-morrow. This official description of the gown was issued yesterday evening at Buckingham Palace.

"The Queen will wear at the royal wedding Thursday a beautiful gown especially designed and executed for her in pastel blue and Australian gold brocade velvet, woven in classic floral effect."

Princess Marina yesterday evening met the elite of Great Britain's social, diplomatic and political circles at an elaborate reception in Buckingham Palace. The event followed the Princess's most strenuous day since she reached London.

The King and Queen, who spent part of yesterday morning watching the final smoothing out of the arrangements for the Abbey service, received more than 800 persons yesterday evening at the state reception.

The ship is 170 metres (about 183 yards) long, has a beam of seventeen metres, seventy decimetres, and a draught of five metres seventy centimetres.

It is fitted with Parsons turbines developing 32,500 horse-power, with a speed of twenty-seven knots. It has eight 155-millimetre and four seventy-five-millimetre guns, as well as two torpedo tubes. The ship was constructed at St. Nazaire, France, and launched on February 14, 1930.

The staff and crew include twenty-seven officers, 133 midshipmen and 800 non-commissioned officers and sailors.

Provided the ship includes athletic teams, efforts will be made to arrange games here with local clubs as part of the entertainment programme.

BATTLE DESCRIBED

Chicago, Nov. 28.—Samuel P. Cowley, one of the United States government's ace manhunters, died early today in an Elgin hospital from bullet wounds inflicted in a gun battle with George (Baby Face) Nelson in which another federal man was killed.

Nelson, one of the few remaining members of John Dillinger's gang, was named as one of two men who shot down Cowley and Herman E. H. Hollis in a burst of gunfire in suburban Barrington last yesterday afternoon. Hollis met death instantly in the shower of bullets that Nelson and an unidentified companion unleashed in a brief but furious gun battle.

HIS GREAT FEAT

Even as he lay dying, it was disclosed by Department of Justice agents that Cowley was the real leader in the federal drive that brought down the notorious Dillinger, although Melvin H. Purvis, head of the Chicago office of the Bureau of Investigation, had been generally credited with being Dillinger's nemesis. Cowley also commanded the government's manhunters in tracking down Charles (Pretty Boy) Floyd in an Ohio cornfield last month, Department of Justice agents disclosed.

Hollis was reported to have fired the bullet that struck Cowley in front of a Montgomery Ward store last night.

Thus Nelson, public enemy No. 1, took deadly vengeance for the slaying of Dillinger.

In addition to all the power the Department of Justice could concentrate in the area, half of the 200 detectives of the Chicago police force were called into the hunt immediately after the slaying yesterday.

The second fugitive is believed in some quarters to be John Hamilton, a lieutenant in the Dillinger mob.

TWO IN CUSTODY

Two arrests were made by raiding squads of police and federal agents. Chester Leader, a garage owner, and Lester Van Huston, operator of a tavern, both described by police as associates of Nelson, were seized for questioning.

The search was extended to Minneapolis and St. Paul on the theory the killers might seek a hideout in the Minnesota-Twin Cities.

As the gangsters' car roared past the machine in which the agents were riding, the officers swung their machine in pursuit.

FIGHT WITNESSED

"We could hear the roar of the motors and then shots as the men in the second car began shooting at the other," Mrs. Frances Kramer, operator of a gasoline filling station, and a witness to the killing, said.

"Someone in the first car shot back. Just before they reached my station the second car pulled abreast of the other on the outside. I heard the tires of the first car screech as the driver swung sharply into a little side road about 200 feet past the station."

"The second car swerved with it and managed to pull ahead just off the highway, blocking the way of the other car, which slid half into a ditch. A woman jumped out, ran up the road a few yards, and plumped down in the ditch. Both men had jumped at the same time, and faced the other with what looked like guns. I saw the first car firing as the two men in the federal car approached."

"All four men were using automobiles as shields at first. One of the agents (Cowley) fell over backwards into the ditch. The other dashed across the road behind a telephone pole. He dropped a few minutes later."

GUNMAN WOUNDED

Another witness, Robert Hayford of Barrington, a park employee, said one of the gangsters, apparently Nelson's companion, was wounded in the leg, and was able to get on his feet only with great difficulty after the federal agents had ceased firing.

As the smoke of the fight was clearing the gunmen called to their woman companion, jumped into the federal agents' machine, and drove away, leaving behind them their own machine disabled and punctured by bullets.

COMMISSIONER

Increase of 28.4 Per Cent in Gross Value Estimated by Mines Department; Gold Hits All-time High; Lead Output Sets Record

MR. JUSTICE M. A. MACDONALD who was appointed by the provincial government to-day as commissioner to inquire into coal and petroleum products costs and prices.

"a. The cost of importation or production;

"b. The cost of refining or preparation for use;

"c. The cost of transportation;

"d. The cost to dealers in British Columbia;

"e. The cost to consumers in British Columbia;

"f. The profits made by persons or corporations engaged in the importation of petroleum products into British Columbia, or in refining, producing or supplying petroleum products for use in British Columbia.

"Generally, all matters tending to show the comparative value of coal and petroleum products for economic use as aforesaid in British Columbia and the value to the economic welfare of British Columbia of the development of industry based upon the production of the fuels enumerated, or tending to show whether or not the prices charged for coal and petroleum products respectively are unjust or unreasonable, and all such further matters as the commissioner may consider to be incidental to any of the foregoing matters of inquiry."

PREMIER DIVIDEND

Vancouver, Nov. 28 (Canadian Press).—A distribution of three cents a share on Premier Gold was announced by Toronto General Trust, transfer agents for the company. The dividend is payable January 15 to shareholders of record December 14.

$6,875,606 was made in 1926 with silver at 62.107 cents per ounce. The past records in silver production and value have not been due to extremely high prices for the metal and production was fairly steady from 1896 to 1921 in spite of wide fluctuations in price. The sudden rise in the value of silver came in 1922 with the sudden rise in the production of lead and zinc and the future of silver volume production will depend on the market for the base metals. An appreciation in price will bring into production a number of small operations, but the volume is not likely to be very greatly affected.

COPPER IS HIGHER

Copper production has increased 12.3 per cent over 1933 with a volume of 49,400,000 pounds valued at $9,566,680. The estimated price of 7.22 cents for the metal is slightly below the 1933 price of 7.458 cents a pound.

"In view of the possibility of Granby closing down its operations at Anyox in the near future, the outlook for copper production in British Columbia is not very bright, particularly when we look back to the all-time high in 1926 of 101,483,777 pounds of metal valued at $18,375,882," says the report. "However, the increase in tonnage of gold-copper ores in the Rosland boundary country and the steadily increasing production of gold are likely to take its place."

Miscellaneous minerals including bentonite, bismuth, cadmium, diatomite, flux, gypsum and pyrite, iron, mica, phosphate, platinum, crushed slate, soda, sulphur content or pyrite in the manufacture of sulphuric acid and talc show the very marked increase of 64.3 per cent over 1933, the value jumping from $63,532 to $1,041,500.

The estimate on structural materials shows a decrease of 11.5 per cent, from $124,045 to $109,800. The value of structural materials depends not only on the value of the mineral industry, but upon agriculture and lumbering as well. It is clearly shown in former figures that there is a lag in the value of structural materials behind either an increase or decrease in the value of the major basic industries.

A Law Every Mother Should Know and Observe

Never Give Your Child An Unknown Remedy
without Asking Your Doctor First

"MOTHER, never give your child a remedy you don't know all about, without asking your doctor first." This is the only safe rule. If mothers knew what scientists and doctors know, they would never violate it.

Child specialists, family physicians and writers on health subjects, all stand together on this point.

When it comes to the important — and frequently used — "milk of magnesia," you know what the qualified advice is. Doctors, for over 50 years have said, "PHILLIPS' Milk of Magnesia."

Milk of Magnesia... the safe remedy for your child.

For Phillips' is the result of over a half century of continuous laboratory research — is rated the finest science knows in its field.

So — always say Phillips' when you buy. And for your own peace of mind, see that your child gets what you ask for — when you are asked to accept an unknown preparation in place of Genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia.

MEMORIAL FOR DR. I. NITOE

Stone Lantern Will Soon Be Placed on U.B.C. Campus

Canadian Press
Vancouver, Nov. 28. — A stone Japanese lantern and garden in memory of the late Dr. Inazo Nitobe, noted Japanese diplomat and scholar, who died in Victoria last year, will be placed on the University of British Columbia campus.

The memorial, offered on behalf of all Japanese Associations in Vancouver, has been accepted by the university board of governors. It is being executed in Japan, and will be fifteen feet high, weighing seven tons. Of typical Japanese design, the lantern will enclose an engraving of Nitobe, about six inches in depth. On each side of the twelve-sided pedestal will be an engraving of a different animal.

Dr. Nitobe was stricken while on his way home to Japan after attending the meeting of the Institute of Pacific Relations at Banff, Alta. He was a member of the House of Peers, a former Japanese representative to the League of Nations, and a former professor of Tokyo Imperial University.

The memorial was offered in recognition of his services in cementing friendly relations between Japan and Canada.

CAT WENT LONG WAY TO HOME

Associated Press
Stimbury, Pa., Nov. 28. — Councilman Arnold Bruno of Kulpmont, went a long way to get rid of his cat.

He took it to a Weikert lodge, of which he is a member, and gave it to the caretaker.

That was Armistice Day. The Bruno household had almost forgotten it ever had a cat when in walked kitty, having covered fifty-eight miles in barely two weeks.

Doctor Drops From Medicine Academy

Canadian Press
Toronto, Nov. 28. — Dr. Pasquale Fontanella yesterday revealed the Toronto Academy of Medicine had accepted his resignation after he had refused its request that he reconsider it. Dr. Fontanella first submitted his resignation after a dispute over a paper, in which he claimed to have discovered a cancer treatment. The doctor had asked the academy to allow him patients, but that body explained that while it had taken interest in the paper, it could not permit itself to be a party to any possible exploitation of the treatment without further proof to the benefit of its author claimed for it.

MUCH OPIUM IN MANCHUKUO

League of Nations Hears Charge of Plot Against Chinese

Associated Press
Geneva, Nov. 28. — Charges that Japan, by accumulating vast stocks of opium in Manchukuo, sought to make narcotic addicts out of the Chinese population and thus "weaken their morale," were revealed here this week in confidential League of Nations records published for the first time.

It was revealed also that Japan which resigned from the League of Nations, had threatened to withdraw from the League's advisory committee on opium traffic because of the charges.

A formal protest against the insinuations, allegedly made by Wellington Koo of China, was submitted by Masayuki Yokoyama, Japanese consul-general in Geneva. He declared the insinuations were unjustified.

"No one intends to poison Chinese people," he said.

Two On Prairie Asphyxiated

Three Members of Farm
Family Found Unconscious;
Furnace Blamed

Lloydminster, Sask., Nov. 28. — Two youths lost their lives and their mother, father and brother were critically ill to-day, victims of escaping coal gas in their farm home thirty miles south of here.

The dead: Graver Sands, nineteen, and Elmer, seventeen. The father, Oscar Sands, his wife and their oldest son, Leon, were in a hospital here to-day, their recovery doubtful.

According to reports received here, the fire was banked Sunday night when the family retired, and during that night all five were affected. The two youths had been dead many hours when the bodies were found, doctors say.

All day Monday and all Monday night the surviving three members of the family lay unconscious in their beds. Yesterday morning Mrs. Sands regained consciousness enough to stagger out of bed, break windows and ask a telephone operator to call help.

The operator summoned aid from McLaughlin, and then called Dr. G. L. Cooke from Lloydminster. Rescuers found Graver and Elmer dead in their beds, and the rest of the family unconscious. Mrs. Sands having collapsed again. The three still living were rushed to Lloydminster.

Police and the coroner to-day were investigating the deaths.

The furnace was being inspected for signs of trouble. The thirty-six hour lapse before discovery of the tragedy is attributed to the fact that no one happened to call at the Sands home Monday, although the family is one of the most prominent in the district. Mr. Sands came here thirty years ago.

EMPLOYMENT TOTAL GROWS

Showed Decrease

Canadian Press
Ottawa, Nov. 28. — Employment in Canada showed 937,483 persons on the payrolls of reporting employers on November 1, an increase of 2,580, compared with October 1, according to the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. In the Maritime and prairie provinces and Quebec, the tendency was upward. Losses were recorded in Ontario and British Columbia.

The increase in employment in the prairie provinces on November 1 was especially interesting in that it was contrary to the usual seasonal movement indicated in the years since 1920. Returns were compiled from 1,529 firms having 121,460 employees, against 120,228 on October 1.

Coal mining, logging, manufacturing, railway transportation and building afforded considerably more employment. Communications, railway construction and local transportation and storage showed contractions. The gain in the manufacturing group occurred mainly in animal food and iron and steel plants. The general though, and expansion in the prairie contrasts favorably with the decline noted on November 1, 1933, when the index was slightly lower.

A further decrease in employment was recorded in B.C. The 725 staffs of the 925 employers furnishing returns aggregated 78,334, compared with 79,296 in the preceding month. The reduction occurred almost wholly in manufacturing, the being important seasonal losses in food factories, together with a large contraction in iron and steel. Transportation, railway construction also showed a decline. On the other hand, highway construction was decidedly more active. Employment was brisker than on November 1 of last year, when greater shrinkage had been noted. The index then stood at 84.0, compared with 94.1.

SOUTH HAS U.S. PAPER SUPPLY

Pine Trees Discarded by Navy Pointed to as Newsprint Source

Savannah, Ga., Nov. 28. — The dreams of richness in the forest resources of the United States south coast came true in a government report just received here. The report indicates, according to paper experts here, that there is enough pulpwood in the discarded pines of the naval stores industry in southern Georgia alone to supply two-thirds of the annual newspaper needs of the United States.

The report was made by the southern forest survey staff, under charge of Regional Director I. F. Eldridge of the Southern Forest Experiment Station, New Orleans. It covers the supply of pulpwood in unit number one, which embraces thirty-five counties of Georgia.

This is part of a national survey authorized by Congress. The report states the pulpwood in unit number one, which embraces thirty-five counties of Georgia, is 11,084,000 cords of pulpwood.

Believing naval stores will continue to lay first claim to those trees producing turpentine, the survey estimates the amount of pulpwood left in these trees for commercial use after they have been worked out for naval stores, is 11,084,000 cords.

This is enough, together with the trees discarded each year by the naval stores industry, for two-thirds of the annual newspaper needs of the United States, says Dr. Charles H. Herty, director of the pulp and paper laboratory of the industrial committee of Savannah.

DEBATE AT EDMONTON

Edmonton, Nov. 28. The Alberta victors were Ralph Collins and William Epstein.

RIOTERS TO BE DEPORTED

Participants in Noranda
Mines Disturbance Get Two Years and Deportation

Canadian Press
Amos, Que., Nov. 28. — Communitarian principles will not be tolerated in this district or anywhere else in Canada, Mr. Justice Romeo Langlais, Quebec, told sixteen foreign-born laborers convicted of participating in riots at Noranda Mines last summer, in sentencing them here yesterday to two years each in the penitentiary and deportation. A seventeenth striker, recommended to the clemency of the court, will be deported after serving six months in jail.

The court remarked that the prisoners their union had given them had advice concerning their being parties to the mine strike. "Citizens are peaceable here, and do not believe in Communist tenets," Mr. Justice Langlais declared. "We welcome strangers to this country, give them work and pay them good wages. Instead of being grateful you wanted to start trouble in this region, which is destined to a great future. You wanted to upset it all, for which you will be bitterly sorry."

MINISTER WINS ON CATTLE AT FAIR

Toronto, Nov. 28. — Hon. Robert Weir, Dominion Minister of Agriculture, yesterday won the junior and reserve championship for female Hereford cattle at the Royal Winter Fair here with Pretty Domino and Weldonus Domino. Pretty Domino, best of the summer yearlings, also took the reserve grand title. The reserve senior championship went to Frank Collicutt, Crossfield, Alta., on W. S. Domino 226.

W. S. Domino, a five-year-old shown by M. J. O'Brien Ltd., Renfrew, Ont., walked off with the senior and grand crowns.

Cragie Galey, owned by C. Duff and Son, Myrtle Station, Ont., yesterday won the Hotel Carlsruhe and Walker House perpetual trophy given to the best Clydesdale stallion at the Royal Winter Fair here. Cragie Galey is a son of Crale Ambition.

Jula, from the University of Saskatchewan, Saskatoon, was awarded the Clydesdale Special, donated by the Clydesdale Horse Association of Canada to the best Canadian-bred female, any age, at the show.

Ontario exhibitors garnered all the titles for mares at the judging of Clydesdales, the senior and grand crowns going to Donalds Farms, Todmorden, Ont., on Brunstane Phyllis. Solway Maid from Maryvale Farms, Scarborough, Ont., took both senior and grand reserves.

JAPAN'S WHEAT CROP EXPANDS

Estimate for 1934 Shows
Substantial Increase Over
Last Year

By PERCY WHITEING
Canadian Press Correspondent
Tokyo, Nov. 28. — Japan's 1934 wheat crop shows a substantial increase compared with 1933, according to an estimate of cereal crops issued by the Minister of Agriculture and Forestry.

The wheat yield this year is estimated by the ministry at 9,451,000 koku (47,255,000 bushels), an increase of 7,390,000 bushels over the preceding year's harvest. Official estimates of the rice and barley crops are respectively 30,805,000 bushels and 33,980,000 bushels, an increase of 4,060,000 bushels in the rice crop and a decrease of 600,000 bushels in barley.

The rapeseed crop is placed at 4,500,000 bushels, an increase of 840,000 bushels over 1933.

DEFENCE FROM AERIAL ATTACK

CAN LONDON IN PARTICULAR
Britain in general be defended adequately against an attack from the air? This is the large question mark which underlies the debate on imperial defence which is taking the time of the British House of Commons to-day. At the outset of the general free-for-all this afternoon, Mr. Winston Churchill, now styled by most political writers as a Conservative "die-hard," moved an amendment to the address in reply to the speech from the Throne declaring that the country's present defence forces were entirely inadequate.

Mr. Churchill, who is the most colorful political gymnast in British public life, amplified his main complaint by informing the Commons that Germany's factories are working under "practically war-time conditions." The great new fact which is riveting the attention of every country in Europe and in the world, he went on, is that "Germany is re-arming on land, to some extent at sea, and which concerns Britain most, in the air."

Mr. Churchill, as First Lord of the Admiralty when war broke out in 1914, did a fine stroke of business in getting the fleet ready for action well before hostilities began. He naturally does not want to see Britain caught napping if any European nation should decide to commit the final folly of attacking her from the air. As he very properly observed in the House this afternoon, a week or ten days of intensive bombardment of London would kill or maim thousands of people and in a short time drive millions into the country. If all the scientists have told us about new inventions is true, we would think a few hours only would be necessary to reduce London to a mass of ruins to form the graveyard for her population. Thus Mr. Churchill particularly wants the Air Force considerably strengthened because "it is useless to move arsenals and factories to the west coast; we must face the peril where we stand."

It is a matter of record, of course, that Great Britain is far behind other countries—she is sixth in the list—in her collection of military aircraft. Steps already have been taken and money appropriated to make up for some of the deficiency. The point which is obvious to everybody, however, is that there is no parallel in the state of affairs among nations to-day and the state of affairs in the summer of 1914. This truth not only applies to the character and possibilities of weapons of offence and defence—it implies an entirely new form of starting a conflict. For example, in 1914, there were several days in which attempts to avert the catastrophe were made by the various statesmen who were in control of affairs. There were exchanges of ultimatums and time limits were set for decisions to be reached, and so on. All this removed much of the element of surprise. It was a case of agree or fight after the elapse of a certain amount of time. At that stage, moreover, military aircraft was nothing like as formidable as it is to-day.

Hundreds of "experts" in many countries have warned us that if there shall be another European war it will be fought for the most part in the air. This presupposes that the aggressor nation or nations would dispose of the formality of telling its victim or victims that it or they could take a couple of days to get ready. Preparations would be made in secret, or as secretly as humanly possible, and the attack launched without warning. We may presume, assuming for the sake of argument, that a Germany with sinister designs on, say, either Britain or France, would assemble fleets of aerial bombers at strategic points where the possibility of detection would be reduced to the minimum, get them up into the air in the darkness, and speed them away on their death-dealing mission. What a target London or Paris would make at ten o'clock at night! This may be a fantastic picture of the beginning of some war of the future. Is it so fantastic after all?

But there is another side of the picture on which one may speculate. Supposing German bombers did catch Britain or France napping; supposing they did reduce London or Paris to ruins and leave a great part of the population mangled or poisoned by deadly gases, what would be the sequel? It has been proved that there is no capital which can be considered adequately equipped with defence forces against a surprise attack from the air. Therefore, within a few hours after the attacking squadrons had begun their work dozens of cities in Germany would be undergoing the same sort of treatment. Hence, it may be asked if any nation hungering for another war would be so suicidal as to start one by a surprise bombing attack. It would quickly resolve itself into a case of dog eat dog—with immediate consequences too terrible to contemplate.

Perhaps one of the most encouraging auguries for peace is the enormous amount of talk about war. Until Austria presented her monstrous ultimatum to Serbia in the summer of 1914, there had been scarcely a murmur about war for months, nothing serious, in fact, since the famous Agadir incident which produced a delicate situation between France and Germany in 1911, the intervention of Great Britain on the side of France relieving the tension. As matters stand now, Europe has the choice of peace or complete suicide. It ought to be reasonable to suppose that, even with the new collection of hot-heads continually rocking the international boat, there are sufficient statesmen to prevent the latter.

IF WE KNEW THE SECRET

privations, and the lost profits of the last few years rises a picture of what we might have done if only we could have found some way of keeping all the wheels turning.

This picture has now been given definite form by the report of the National Survey of Potential Product Capacity, authorized by the government of the United States last March, to see just how far the neighboring republic's actual production and consumption fell short of what was possible.

The report submitted by this group is one of the most important documents offered the American people in recent years. It states bluntly that the wants of every citizen could have been met without the necessity for capacity production. In other words, what some have long suspected is proved to be true—there is no physical reason why anybody in Canada and the United States should lack for anything.

In the banner year of 1929, for instance, the United States produced food worth nearly $27,000,000,000. But because fifty-nine per cent of the families got along on incomes of less than $2,000 a year, they were forced to consume diets containing too little meat. If $3,000,000,000 more of food products had been produced, every family could have had a proper diet.

In 1929, also, the United States people bought 29,000,000 men's suits, 173,000,000 dresses, 9,270,000 men's coats and 614,000,000 pairs of women's stockings. But the clothing industry was capable of producing between two and three times as much in each of these groups; every citizen could have had plenty of decent, well-fitting clothing without calling on the industry for capacity production.

If all the unemployed doctors and nurses in the adjoining country had been put to work, every person in the United States could have had perfect medical treatment for forty-two dollars a year. If the building industry worked at capacity, every family in America could be occupying a pleasant, up-to-date home inside of ten years.

The transportation system could be expanded enormously and run profitably; the American people could easily spend $12,000,000,000 a year on education, instead of approximately $3,725,000,000, as they do now.

How is a Utopian picture like this to be realized? It is pointed out in the report referred to that each of the 27,000,000 families in the United States must have a buying power of $4,700 a year—which, as they say, is a good thing if you can do it.

But however difficult the attainment of that goal may be, the importance of the report as a whole can hardly be overestimated. Everybody can have enough of everything if the secret can be found.

THE CASE OF SAMUEL INSULL

SAMUEL INSULL, HIS SON, AND FIFTEEN others have been acquitted on a charge of using the United States mails to defraud, the trifling amount mentioned in the indictment being $143,000,000, and Insull is reported to be only "vaguely concerned" over the prospects of another ordeal before a federal jury. This state of mind may have been produced by the suggestion that unless Attorney-General Cummings demands further prosecutions by District Attorney Green all the rest of the charges against Insull may be dropped.

We are told that a majority of the jury, which took two hours to reach its decision, voted for acquittal from the start. Thus if the court has pronounced him innocent of the malpractice with which he was charged, that settles it; and it is nothing to do with us, of course, in any case. But what a very large sum of money Mr. Insull might have saved himself if he had not run away from his adopted country to evade the long arm of the law. The verdict reached on Saturday, incidentally, strangely contrasts with his flight and his long fight to dodge extradition from Europe.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

ABOUT THE WEATHER
The Regina Leader-Post.

A man remarked the other day that we took our bad weather in Saskatchewan too seriously. There was too much talk about it. The bad weather was exaggerated. A bit of snow blowing about and there was something in the paper about a blizzard. A heady gale of wind got itself classed as a young cyclone. A dust storm—well, perhaps, too much had been made of the dust storm.

There is something to the viewpoint. Saskatchewan has bits of bad weather—but who hasn't? The fact is that we have weeks of perfect weather, warm sunshine, clear skies, brisk starry nights, wonderful days to be afoot in town or country. The trouble may be that the weather is too fine for business purposes.

One doubts if any part of the world has had finer weather than Saskatchewan has been enjoying for more than a month. It's worth thinking about.

TOO GREAT LENIENCY
The Toronto Telegram

In no other criminal charges are excuses so readily accepted by the courts as in motor slaying cases. The leniency so persistently displayed is as incomprehensible as it is amazing. Either in the law or in its interpretation and enforcement there is need for a sterner viewpoint. Incompetence at the wheel of a car or a faulty condition of the machine ought not to afford immunity for those who have through either of these causes become responsible for the destruction of a human life by a motor car. In most instances where an individual is killed by a motor car on a public highway, speed, carelessness or intoxication on the part of the driver are to blame. These things are all in the nature of deliberate actions, and there are few circumstances in connection therewith which warrant exemption from the penalty of manslaughter. Manslaughter convictions are so rare, however, that fatalities continue with sickening regularity. Not until prison terms make it plain that a permit to drive is not a license to kill can it be expected that there will be greater safety on the highways than now prevails.

Loose Ends

Mrs. Noggins doubts the figures—and is skeptical of the public, too—an able observer notes prosperity returning at the corner of Yates and Blanshard—and we are all indicted.

By H. B. W.

PROSPERITY

I BIN READIN' the papers a lot lately, Mrs. Noggins confided to me this morning on the way to town. You see, that young Mrs. Boggs has bin givin' a afternoon tea or something fer 'er bridge club, and that means she's got a lot of crusts and things fer me chickens. Consequence, she sent over a lot of papers wrapped around it, and I bin readin' about politics and all like that.

"Wot I read in the papers is figgers. Figgers from Ottawa, you know, wot the govern'mint gives out. And they show business is gettin' better all the time. I never seen the day since the depression started when them hexters couldn't prove to you by figgers that things was gettin' better, and the way they throw 'em at you, you'd think a body could live on 'em. I always says to my boy—'e bein' a plumber understands all about figgers—I says, 'Ain't it all right you givin' us all them figgers about business and all like that, but a body can't eat figgers.' I says, 'My boy—e is a card and no mistake—'e says, 'Ma figgers can't lie but liars can figger.' That's a good one, eh? Plumbers get around, you know, and 'ear all the latest."

"Well, like I was sayin', the papers is full of figgers to show that prices is goin' up so things must be better for everybody. It's funny, when prices was up we was kickin' to get 'em down. Now they're down we're kickin' to get 'em up. You'd think, by the way the papers crowd about prices goin' up and the way the politicians shouts, that as soon as prices get so 'igh nobody can buy nothin', then we'd be prosperous again. Mind you, eggs 'as got to go 'igher, but wot good does it do you and me when boots and flour and sugar goes 'igher? Look at the figgers, the politicians say, but you can't wear 'em and you can't eat 'em. By the time the country gets really prosperous again we'll all be starvin' and goin' naked, I guess."

THE PUBLIC

AND I SEEN in the papers where a fella named Stevens 'as bin makin' trouble for all these fellas wot use sweated labor in makin' cheap goods. And you should see the 'oly critter of everybody when they 'ear that gels is wakin' up. They're a week and less, and all like that. Why, the public is so sore they'd like to lynch some of them fellas wot produce cheap goods. Yea, but did you ever see the public refusin' to buy 'em? Did you ever see a woman in Victoria go into a store and say, 'I'd like a pair of them there bargain shoes and some of them fine gloves for sixty-five cents. But I won't take 'em, no sir, because some poor gel 'as to work for four-fifty a week to make 'em.'"

"No, you 'aven't seen anyone doin' that. And as soon as they raise the gels' wages and prices starts to go up, then listen to the 'owls from the public wot is 'owlin' now about the low wages. The public don't care to have a automobile or a permanent wave or a heavenly dress coat. But put the price of food up—especially eggs—and listen to the row. A woman will spend four or five dollars on a permanent wave but if eggs is up a cent a dozen you'd think the 'eavens was goin' to fall. The public! The public! Mrs. Noggins as I lea her out at the corner. 'Aye, the public! Blast it!'"

THANKS, MR. FOX

BUT I AM CONSTRAINED, as a truthful recorder of events to say that there is one tangible and indisputable evidence of returning prosperity that Mrs. Noggins overlooks. With her I am inclined to some skepticism concerning official statistics. I suppose it is my ignorance that makes me suspicious when the figures show

SIDE GLANCES

By George Clark

"Oh, sure, I've seen lots of wild turkey around here—hundreds of 'em—but I reckon that's been more than forty years ago."

beyond question that Canada is leading the world in recovery. It is just my inability to appreciate prosperity, I suppose. I mean, a patriot would surely rejoice to find that only 80,000 people are on relief in British Columbia this fall and only about a million Canadians require the dole, when it is quite clear that two million might, if we weren't recovering so rapidly.

Statistics, as Mrs. Noggins observes, are dull and, to ignorant minds, confusing. But a keen local economic observer named Leslie Fox has told me of a sure proof that things are really better, not merely on paper but in real human terms that anyone can understand. Mr. Fox tells me that for years and years he has been observing a highly significant phenomenon peculiar to our civilization. He says that on Yates Street, approximately at the corner of Blanshard, where a police painted that handsome crossroad puzzle on the road to keep motorists from watching the approaching traffic—at that corner, says Mr. Fox, on a Saturday night at 10 o'clock, you may observe that the pavement is spotted with round, flat pieces of abandoned chewing gum.

By a custom peculiar to our civilization, says this observer, people chew gum in the movie palaces nearby and discard it when they emerge after the show. By counting the pieces of gum from time to time, you can tell with uncanny accuracy how many people are going to the movies.

Well, Mr. Fox tells me that he has been counting for some years now, and he is certain that the total this November will be at least 10 per cent, and possibly 12 or 13 per cent, higher than the total at this time last year. If this increase in movie attendance and gum consumption isn't evidence of returning prosperity, says Mr. Fox, what is?

Indeed, yes, what is? Victoria is fortunate in having such an able and such an indefatigable statistician. I mean, it takes a lot of counting, a great deal of time on the pavements at the corner of Yates and Blanshard late at night to be able to say definitely that economic conditions are 10 or even 12 or 13 per cent better than they were a year ago.

YES-MEN

AN EMINENT THINKER named Bishop Edgar Blake, of Detroit, has been telling his fellow Americans, off in a speech which has been front-paged in the press across the line, he said the people of this continent had lost the power of moral passion and indignation and had become a race of "yes-men."

"Lackwitness," said he, "is one of the curses of America. We are no convictions. We express no opinions. We have no independence of our own. We are fast becoming pussy-footers, side-steppers, wobblers, invertebrates. We are shallow, hesitant, evasive, fearful. In the midst of the most appalling calamity of the century we will instantly deny. But when you are alone some time, just ask yourself if you have lost the power of moral passion and indignation. Ask yourself if you are not a yes-man for somebody above you in your job. Ask yourself what convictions you have. Count them over and review them. You have more than one or two and on anything more important than the state of provincial politics. Count over your opinions also and see if you have any of any particular note unlike the opinions of everybody around you. Are you a pussy-footer, side-stepper, wobbler, invertebrate? Are you shy, hesitant, evasive, fearful? In the midst of the most appalling calamity of the century have you a first-class mind to face it?"

The answers, if you answer honestly, are likely to be distressing. But don't worry too much. Everybody else is like that, too. And people always have been. Their surest convictions have always been proved wrong in fifty years. Their soundest opinions have always been undone by the next generation. They have been side-steppers, wobblers, invertebrates for thousands of years. But somehow they always get along.

Houses destroyed or damaged in the recent typhoon in Japan are estimated to total about 211,000.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST
By ALINE MICHAELIS

AFTER ABSENCE
What though, sometimes, the days may lack
The songs you love, the sunset's gold;
Be sure these joys will all come back
And after absence will have more
Of sweetness than you ever knew
In all those glowing times before.
A single shadow marred the blue.
Your joys are friends, and when was friend
So dear as when he comes once more
With all his wanderings at end,
To enter easily in your door?
When, after lonely times of stress,
Joy comes anew with you to dwell,
Through every mood your happiness
Will tinkle like a wind-blown bell.

King's Portrait On New Bills
Queen Mary's Likeness on Two-dollar Notes of Bank of Canada
Canadian Press
Ottawa, Nov. 28.—Members of the Royal Family and two famous Canadian prime ministers are portrayed on the new paper currency issued by the Bank of Canada. Details of the new money were made public yesterday by Finance Minister E. N. Rhodes. The denominations so far contracted for are 1s, 2s, 5s, 10s, 20s, 50s, 100s, 500s and 1,000s. Sir John A. Macdonald, Confederation Prime Minister, and Sir Wilfrid Laurier, the great Liberal who was Prime Minister from 1896 to 1911, are the two Canadians whose likenesses will be perpetuated on the new money. Sir John A. Macdonald's likeness will be engraved on the $500 bills, and that of Sir Wilfrid on the $1,000 notes.
The new bills will be six inches long by two and seven-eighths inches wide, fractionally shorter and wider than the United States bills, and much smaller than the existing Canadian notes. They are counterfeited by the governor and deputy governor of the Bank of Canada, and a certain proportion of each series are printed in the French language.
The 1's will be green, 2's blue, 5's orange and 10's purple. Colors for the other denominations have not been definitely decided.

Working with Hands May Cause Cramps

Painful Spasm or Numbness of Fingers, From Nervousness or Overwork, May Be Cured by Change of Occupation

By MORRIS FISHEIN

By DR. MORRIS FISHEIN
I have mentioned frequently in this column the unusual forms of painful conditions which develop in certain kinds of jobs. Probably you know about writer's cramp, but you may not know that there are similar conditions occurring among telegraphers, hammerers, and twisters.
Writer's cramp seems to occur more often in people who are inclined to be nervous and anxious than in those who are more stolid and robust. However, overwork seems to play a definite part in its appearance. Fourteen of 8,500 employees in the postoffice department in Great Britain had to be transferred to other kinds of work because they developed writer's cramp. That, of course, means that transfer to another kind of work is usually the best cure for this condition.
Sometimes a cure may be obtained by changing to a different kind of work of chorus girls who trip along Broadway in their almost-genuine silver shoes and mink coats. And by the gallant courage and unflinching pride of jobless showfolk.
WHEN WINTER COMES
There is some comfort in the assurance that there will be bread for the breadlines. And that police will not interfere too much with the vacant "jingles" where unemployed men house their self-respect in packing boxes. I am thankful for the staunch idealism of hundreds of the lesser actors whose names never appear in lights. And, of course, for the accepted masters of theatrical magic—the Katharine Cornells, Eva Le Gallienne, Walter Huston, George M. Cohan and others who hold to high purpose. I am glad that this is the sort of town where one can feed apples to policemen's horses without feeling like a sap.
It is nice to contemplate the lush bounty of overflowing markets. And to watch the eager faces in the long ticket lines at the Hippodrome, where low-priced grand opera is offered. Maybe I imagine it, but the tense crowds seem smaller in front of the employment agencies on Sixth Avenue. I am glad that Apple Annie got to be a lady-for-a-day before she died. And grateful that night clubs have only one master-of-ceremonies apiece. I am thankful that snow soon will come to mute the harsh sounds of the city, and to blanket some of its unsightliness.

pen, to a different position of sitting when writing, learning to use a typewriter, or writing with the left hand instead of the right.
The cause of writer's cramp is believed to be the development of some sort of overstimulation of the part of the brain and the nervous system concerned in the writing technique. The symptoms of writer's cramp are, of course, a spasm and weakness of the hand used in writing.
Telegrapher's cramp is something of the same kind, but occurs to men who punch the telegraph key and afflicts the hand and arm that are concerned in the work.
The twister's cramp occurs to people in the weaving industry who spend most of their time twisting for weaving purposes.
In each instance, of course, a change in occupation and a removal of the particular stress which brought on the disturbance will relieve the condition.
Of a different character is the effect of pneumatic tools on the tissues involved in holding the pneumatic hammer. Two factors apparently are involved: One is the pressure of the tool and the vibration which affects the circulation in the fingers, especially the left hand. The fingers in this hand are likely to go dead or numb.
The other effect is the condition of cold produced by the escape of compressed air on the hands.
Other investigators feel that the form of the tool, the way in which it is held, its weight, and the noise associated with the work may be involved in producing the serious changes in the blood vessels which are later reflected in the tissues of the hand.
Liability to this condition increases as time goes on and the only hope for relief is removal from this type of work to some other work in which the hands are not constantly subjected to the vibration and the cold.

CHICAGO BROKER JUMPS TO DEATH

Chicago, Nov. 28.—At an hour he had set like a business engagement, and while two friends raced down the hotel corridor to stop him, Leroy F. Harris, a Chicago broker, leaped fifteen floors to his death yesterday with a bouquet of yellow flowers in his hand.

He was despondent over financial affairs.

Condemns Capitalism As "Utter Imbecility"

This Is Age of Cultural Leisure and Plenty For Everyone, Says Fred Henderson, British Economist

Fundamentals of the "age of plenty" from the Socialist point of view were expounded to a capacity audience at the Chamber of Commerce yesterday evening by Fred Henderson, economist and organizer of the British Labor Party.

Mr. Henderson received an attentive hearing from the gathering, which was sponsored by the local branch of the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation. This morning the noted economist left for Nanaimo, where he will speak this evening. From there he will return to Vancouver and afterwards leave for Seattle.

In his address he dealt only with the basic facts of the economic system without political reference to countries or party.

First he sought to dispel the idea that the world must, perforce, be subject to periods of depression and prosperity.

"It never was anything but the craziest notion that in a world of abundance human life should periodically be subject to poverty and insecurity. It is simply not within the bounds of common sense and reason," he declared.

These periods of depression and prosperity had chased each other across the last century, but the tendency was for each succeeding period of prosperity to become shorter and less dependable, and for the ensuing depressions to be more prolonged and stubborn. This indicated the series was not endless, but must stop some time.

COLLAPSE OF CAPITALISM

"I believe that in the present depression we are seeing the end of this economic era. Capitalism has come to its collapse. This does not mean that human life would not continue to go on—in a sort of way—but it would only be to the accompaniment of worse poverty, worse unemployment and deepening insecurity."

There was nothing local, or even national about the collapse, he continued.

"The thing that is happening is that the people of the world are everywhere being disabled from getting for consumption the things they all require and can produce in the greatest abundance. When you get right down to it, it is like an abdication of reason in human affairs. If the archangel touring space could look down upon us they would think, simply, that we were not a rational people."

"It all points to some deep fundamental defect which requires correction. Let us see what is the matter then?"

"Our only wealth is natural resources and what humans can make of them. The whole economic life of mankind is the human struggle with nature for sustenance, and we have been born in an age where this struggle has taken on an entirely new character because of an economic revolution."

LIMITATIONS LIFTED

Only 200 years ago, he explained, the physical energy of the human body was the measure of limit in the output of man. Suddenly these limitations had been exploded with the coming of the so-called machine age. The machine itself was not the real revolutionary factor. It was the discovery that the natural resources included not only the goods that humans need for themselves, but also the power with which to produce the goods much quicker and better.

"And through this we've been carried out of the long immemorial age of scarcity into a new world of superabundance," he said.

"The problem of poverty for mankind has been completely and finally solved as far as production is concerned."

"There is no natural compulsion why men and women should go without things that they need for reasonable satisfaction."

"If you could have told the people living 200 years ago what enormous production would be possible with the power of to-day they could not have imagined any other consequence than that this would be an age of plenty for everyone."

"And yet, what do we find? We find that the working population of to-day gets just about the same as it did 200 years ago."

BARRIER STOPS FLOW

"Then is it not a matter of plain fact, that there must be somewhere in our economic system a deep-seated barrier that is stopping the flow of this plenty to the masses of the world?"

Mr. Henderson cited the practical facts of the replacement of men by machinery, but pointed out that the only purchasing power permitted to get into the hands of the mass of people was the payment for productive service and this was given on a sustenance basis during the time of work. It was no wonder the capitalist system had a huge mass of output on its hands that it could not get into consumption.

"The simple answer is that our economic system to-day is an anti-consumer system. Goods are not produced for consumption, but to give property rights to the owners of the means of production."

"At the World's Fair in Chicago I was quite interested in agricultural exhibits showing how progress had been made in the fight against weeds and other pests. But I pointed out to the attendant that when production was increased by reduction of these pests it merely created a huge surplus which was then ploughed back into the ground, burned, or thrown into the sea. Really, the beetles and the weevils might just as well have done the job in the first place."

PIGS BURNED, PEOPLE HUNGRY

"Why, on the banks of the Mississippi River they burned up 5,000,000 hogs, and almost within the smell of the burning flesh, were people in Chicago grubbing in garbage cans for a few scraps to eat."

"The truth is that capitalism cannot handle the conditions of plenty. Why, if we used our avenues of production to capacity for three months every market in the world would be swamped and there would be a complete breakdown in prices."

SIMILARITY TO SLAVES

Mr. Henderson compared the condition of the working man to that of the slaves in former ages. In reality there was little difference. "In the case of the slaves, the masters owned the men body and soul, but in this age they owned the means of livelihood and the working man had to beg to be bought into a condition much similar to that of the slaves."

"In the age of scarcity the slave and serf system developed so that a few people could live a life of cultural leisure."

"Our production methods to-day make it possible for all our people to be released to a life of cultural leisure."

UTTER IMBECILITY

"The wickedness and cruelty of capitalism is condemned by many of our supporters. It is not these that impress me so much as the utter imbecility of the system. It is brainless, stupid and quite crazy."

"What we say is that the nation should own the means of life and work for the people. It should set up a co-operative commonwealth owning its own means of life and not placing them under private ownership."

"Production should be for use, not to protect property rights. What could be more rational, when compared to the imbecile stupidity of the capitalist system."

ANNIVERSARY AT ST. AIDAN'S Forty-first Year of Church Celebrated With Special Services

The forty-first anniversary services of St. Aidan's United Church and the first after reconstruction were successfully celebrated on Sunday when Rev. Dr. E. A. Henry and Rev. James Hood conducted the services and preached inspiring sermons to good congregations. Mrs. Harold Lord and Miss Barbara Dawson were the soloists. St. Aidan's choir provided other special music.

One of the interesting features of the anniversary was the reading of a poem, "St. Aidan's," composed by Edna Jaques, written after a visit to the church.

On Monday evening Dr. Henry held the interest of his audience for an hour and a half while delivering an illustrated lecture, "A Tour Through England, Scotland and France," interesting humor while contributing valuable information. Many of the scenes on the screen brought forth tively forced leisure and abundance on the world. These were good gifts which a sensible nation should receive and use in the proper way.

"If they are not used sensibly then we have the leisure in the form of unemployment and misery and the abundance in the form of smashed markets and economic turmoil."

"We have come out of the age of scarcity when drudgery was a virtue, and we are now in the age of plenty and cultural leisure."

NEW OUTLOOK NEEDED

A new outlook must be created, Mr. Henderson said. Some people had the "work mentality." They believed their place in the world was to work hard all their lives, and this had been one of the greatest drawbacks to a change in the right direction.

"A great many of you do not believe you were born to be free. You think you were born to drudge for someone else. It is not your masters who hold you cheap. It is yourselves who regard yourselves cheaply."

The middle class, or professional class, which had tasted the leisure and plenty, were just as much concerned as the working man who had not, he continued.

"If you, the professional men, are not prepared to claim for the whole community the cultural leisure you now have, then you're not going to keep it for yourselves under the present system," he declared.

Mr. Henderson concluded with the assertion that he was not trying to persuade anyone to the socialist view by mere dogmatic assertions. He was merely stating a case on which his hearers could base their own conclusions.

Don Smith was chairman.

ejaculations of appreciation from members of the audience, as precious memories were revived of places in the Old Land.

Rev. H. J. Armitage occupied the pulpits of Fairfield and Belmont Avenue Churches Sunday.

MISTAKES MADE IN SETTLEMENT

Three serious mistakes were made in the early colonial land laws and these were continued to the present day, Bruce A. McKelvie, managing editor of The Daily Colonist, told members of the Round Table Club at a dinner meeting yesterday evening in Speedie's Cafe. They were, the allowing pre-emption of 160 acres in the wooded sections of the province, the permitting of widespread settlement and allowing unrestricted settlement.

The time had arrived for reconsideration of this policy, Mr. McKelvie contended, since these mistakes had held up provincial development.

He referred to solutions which had been offered by the Native Sons of British Columbia in the form of constructive suggestions for re-arrangement. They favored removing all pre-emption lands from the market, the establishing of definite settlement areas, the zoning of lands, removal of isolated settlers to settled districts, where they would be better able to assist themselves, and the leasing of lands near temporary industrial centres.

The members took part in a general discussion of the question after Mr. McKelvie's talk.

CANADIAN NATIONAL RAILWAYS

Keeping our Railways busy is a long step toward general prosperity.

One of the purposes of these advertisements is to direct the thoughts of Canadians to the important part played in their daily lives by railways—to drive home the truth that, since no one in Canada, young or old, in country or in city, is independent of their services either for personal transportation or for the carriage of materials, it is of vital importance to the Dominion that railways should be maintained on a scale adequate to meet national requirements. Substitutes for rail transportation may from time to time be used but in the last analysis—and particularly for long distance hauls—it is to the railways, which day in and day out in all seasons and under all conditions carry out their appointed tasks, that the public looks for safe, speedy, reliable and economical transportation.

The measure of a railway's services is determined by the use which the public makes of them. In many respects the factors governing the operation of railways are the same as those in other businesses which depend on selling what they produce, and there must necessarily be a close connection between the amount of service a railway can provide and the amount for which it can find a market. In the end reduced transportation sales mean reduced railway services; increased sales mean expanding services.

Because of their nature and importance, any reduction of railway services involves inconvenience, perhaps actual hardship, somewhere. It also imposes additional cost on the remaining services. On the other hand a steady or increasing use of railways will enable not only adequate services to be maintained but will provide for their more economical operation. It will also stimulate business in every branch of industry by the direct help it gives, by the wages it pays to employees, and by its purchases of material.

For these reasons the C.N.R. is determined to get more business for all the services it operates more passengers more freight traffic more hotel guests more users of its telegraphs more packages for its express. This, of course, can only be done by giving patrons the highest possible value for their money—by making them glad to use the C.N.R. and to recommend it to others. This the C.N.R. has set out to do.

Your co-operation and patronage are respectfully invited. C.N.R. equipment is up-to-date; and C.N.R. employees are efficient and helpful. Use the C.N.R. for all transportation purposes—you will be satisfied.

MEISTERSINGERS PLAN CONCERTS

Will Appear in Many Centres; Opening Programme Here on January 14

The Meistersingers will open their second season at Sidney on November 30. This group of twenty male singers and two women soloists, which made a successful debut last season, has been rehearsing its new programme during the last few months. So well did the public receive these talented singers last season, that they have been booked to appear twice during the coming season at Sidney, Duncan, Nanaimo, Victoria, Vancouver and a concert engagement in Seattle.

Their first appearance in Victoria will be at the Empire Theatre on January 14 for three nights. The programme will be made up of excerpts from "Carmen," "Il Trovatore," "Faust," "Rigoletto," "Madame Butterfly," "La Bohème," "Student Prince" and "Robin Hood."

The membership in this organization is limited to twenty male singers who are as follows: J. Walsh, L. Smith, secretary; F. Irving, P. Spooner, A. McKinnon, L. Jones, Dudley Wickett, R. Tyrrell, J. Longworth, J. Dunn, P. Rowley, S. Jones, Pierre Timp, G. Wilkinson, R. Pollock, R. Bowkett, L. Baker, S. Clark, Fred S. Wright, J. Townsend. The women are Thelma Johns and Ursula Aldous. Grace Allen is the accompanist. Frederick King the conductor, and Davis Morgan the manager.

M'EACHERN WINS PLOUGHING MATCH

Courtenay, Nov. 28.—The fall ploughing match, under the auspices of the Comox Agricultural and Industrial Association, brought out eight teams for the contest. Although competitors in previous years have been more numerous, the work done this year is announced by the judge, T. G. Stewart, of the Dominion Livestock Branch, Victoria, as excellent. Mr. Stewart makes special mention of Patrick M'Eachern, who captured first prize for straightest ploughing. The next high man in the field was A. Kishimoto.

Alberni

Alberni, Nov. 28.—After a lapse of three years the Alberni district Orchestral Society will resume activities. Reorganization was effected on Monday evening at St. Albans parish hall and it is announced that the first practice will be held Wednesday evening, November 28.

Mr. and Mrs. Allan Paul Jr., who have been the house guests of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Paul, left on Tuesday for Port Alberni. Mr. Paul is a member of the Alberni district Orchestral Society. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Hoeg of Chase River. The bride was given in marriage by her stepfather, R. Huchcroft, and was attended by Mrs. H. Hoeg. Hugo Hoeg supported his brother as best man. After a short wedding trip the young couple will take up residence at Chase River, Canon Hitchcock performed the ceremony at St. Paul's Church, Nanaimo.

Herbert Pattison, director of the Alberni Amateur Dramatic and Music Club, reports success in practicing weekly on Gilbert and Sullivan's "Yeoman of the Guard." The opera should be ready for presentation at the beginning of the year. Three performances will be given in All Saints' Hall.

At a meeting of interested parties in guiding held at All Saints' Hall on Monday the divisional commissioner, Mrs. Grieg of Royston, attended, and in the course of her address expressed appreciation of Mrs. S. G. Cozen's long service for upwards of twelve years as guide captain. Mrs. Cozen has been requested to carry on with the company until after the intended visit to British Columbia, of Lord and Lady Baden-Powell. The divisional commissioner appealed to those interested to help carry on the work, and stated that unless a suitable new guide is forthcoming it will be necessary to disband the company after Easter.

PORT ALBERNI

Port Alberni, Nov. 28.—Mrs. M. V. Duncan, matron of the West Coast Hospital, is spending a holiday at Ucluelet.

Mix Best Cough Remedy

At Home. Easy! Big Saving!

Beats Them All For Quick,
 Lasting Relief.
 If you want the best remedy for severe coughs, mix it at home. Once tried, you'll never use any other kind, and it's so simple and easy.
 First, make a syrup by stirring 2 cups granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved.
 A child could do it. No cooking needed.
 Then get 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex from any drugist. This is a highly concentrated compound of Norway Pine, famous for its healing effect on throat and bronchial membranes.

 Put the Pinex into a 16 oz. bottle, and add your syrup. Thus you make 16 ounces of Pinex. It is a fact that you could buy ready-made for four times the money. It never spoils, and tastes fine.
 And for quick, lasting relief, it has no equal. You can feel it penetrating the air passages in a way that means business. It loosens the germ-laden phlegm, soothes and heals the inflamed membranes, makes breathing easy, and lets you get restful sleep.
 Just try it, and if not pleased, your money will be refunded.

PRINCESS LOSES
FORTY POUNDS
 Associated Press.
 New York, Nov. 28.—Forty-four pounds thinner than she was two years ago, Princess Alexis Midvint, former Barbara Hutton, returned from Europe yesterday minus her polo-playing price.
 But reports of a rift between them are absurd, the five and ten cents

Every Month There's a New One

A warning to be on the lookout for substitutes

It's natural enough to expect imitations and "substitutes" for Roman Meal. I suppose I should be flattered that so many products try to ride on the "coat tails" of Roman Meal. In the last few years no less than 28 "as good as Roman Meal" have been offered to the public in both Western and Eastern Canada. They don't last long, it's true—but while they do last they mislead a certain number of people.

Right now there are products claiming to be "as good as Roman Meal" or "like Roman Meal" or "the same as Roman Meal". In other words they are idealizing Roman Meal—making it the standard which they claim to equal.

That the public has come to know and to realize the virtue of Roman Meal is proved by its enormous growth in sales. We do believe that the claims of imitators to be "just as good" have materially helped the sales of Roman Meal by making Roman Meal the standard which people in the end usually have the good sense to buy, and while it is true that they have got nowhere themselves, they have raised Roman Meal to a pedestal in public esteem and public demand, to which tribute I can have no objection.

But, whatever the cause, the fact remains that Roman Meal has yearly increased in sales by leaps and bounds—one year doubling the sales of the previous year—even during the years of the so-called depression. And other products, Bekus Puddy, Lishus and Kory Sub, while not so long on the market, are showing steadily increasing sales each month without fail. Ask any business man and he will tell you that this can only be accomplished by an article which has been tried by the public and found to be of outstanding merit. We give you these facts, not in a spirit of boasting, but to prove that tens of thousands of Canadians (as well as countless people in other countries where Roman Meal is daily growing in sales) do not want imitations—but insist on the genuine Dr. Jackson Products which have proved every claim we ever made for them. Buy the imitations, if you care to, but do not buy them in the belief that they are "the same as Roman Meal" or "like Roman Meal" for positively they are not. It is not enough that these foods be coarsely ground to look like Roman Meal. There are ingredients in Roman Meal that the imitators cannot obtain that put Dr. Jackson foods in a class by themselves.

KING WHEELS BABY CARRIAGE

Sofia, Bulgaria, Nov. 28.—King Boris, who likes nothing better than to pilot a locomotive around the curving of Bulgarian mountains, started the populace yesterday by wheeling a baby carriage through the streets of the capital.

In the carriage proudly rode his two-year-old daughter, Princess Marie Louise. The popular sovereign made his way through the crowded streets skilfully, stopping only occasionally to bend over the carriage and chuck the little princess under the chin.

The delighted onlookers smiled broadly and made lively comments on the excellent maternal quality of their king.

Before Baby Comes And Afterwards

Pale, weak, tired and nervous. The expectant mother has times of discouragement. The enormous demand made on the blood supply is a drain on her strength and energy. Experience of many thousands of women has shown that Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is of very great benefit to mothers. Both before and after baby's coming. This is only to be expected. This treatment is a builder of new, rich blood, and good blood, above all things, is what the mother needs at this time. You are not experimenting. When you use this time-tested medicine. Enquiry among your friends will prove to you how generally Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is used during this trying time.

Nanaimo Observes 80th Anniversary of Princess Royal's Arrival

Nanaimo, Nov. 28.—Members of the Nanaimo Pioneer Association gathered at the banquet table at the Malaspina Hotel last night to celebrate the eightieth anniversary of the arrival of the Princess Royal at Esquimalt, November 27, 1854, with twenty families comprising seventy persons, from Staffordshire, England, bound for Nanaimo. Fred Busby, president of the association, acted as chairman.

Major John Barby conveyed the greetings of the city council and Factor Roy Hedden of the local post. Native Sons, brought felicitations from his organization. The evening was spent in addresses and reminiscences by the pioneers. Moose Ward, Nanaimo Indian, spoke on early Nanaimo history.

Guests of honor included John Meakin, who was aboard the Princess Royal, and Mrs. William Giamhlo, first white child born in Nanaimo.

The Princess Royal sailed from London under Captain Wilehart, on June 1, 1854, with twenty families, comprising seventy souls aboard for Nanaimo.

The male members of the party had been engaged by the Hudson's Bay Company to work in the Nanaimo coal mines. The voyage was made via Cape Horn, with one stop at the Sandwich Islands.

The Princess Royal sailed from Esquimalt Harbor, November 27, 1854, and the passengers were transferred to the schooner Discovery for Nanaimo. Passengers of the Princess Royal still living are: Mrs. Eliza Parkin, aged eighty-six, residing at Comox; John Meakin, aged eighty, of this city; Mrs. Roberts, aged eighty-two, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hawks, now residing at Oakdale, Cal.; and her brother, James Hawks, eighty, living at Washington. It is believed that Mrs. Phoebe Campbell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas York, is still alive and residing at Abbotsford, B.C.

The names of the families on the Royal were: George Robinson, manager of the mine, wife, son, daughter and maid; James Bevilockway, wife, two sons and daughter; Richard Turner and daughter; John Meakin, wife and two sons; Daniel Dunn and wife; John Malpass, wife, son and daughter; Joseph Webb and wife; John Biggs and wife; Matthew Miller, wife and two daughters; John Thompson, wife and two sons; George Baker, wife, son and daughter; John Baker and wife; Eliza Ganner, wife, two sons and two daughters; James Hawks, wife, son and daughter; Jesse Sage, wife, two sons and one daughter; John Richardson, wife, two sons and one daughter; Richard Richardson and wife; John Gough, wife, two sons and one daughter; Thomas York, wife and daughter.

Your Baby and Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

VARIETY OF CAUSES MAY VOMITING SERIOUS PROBLEM

The chronically vomiting child represents a difficult feeding problem for the parent. It is not a rare condition, but it is one that is often overlooked. Sometimes, of course, it means only that the baby is given more than his stomach can hold, or he is fed too often. But quite often chronic vomiting may indicate some physical abnormality unrelated to food at all, or it may be that the baby cannot take a formula because of some persons sensitivity. Our latest on "Reasons for Vomiting," will help clear up this matter for mothers. In asking for this leaflet, please send a self-addressed, stamped envelope. Write Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of "Your Baby and Mine" department of this newspaper.

VOMITING AND RASH

Mrs. G. K. writes: "My three-and-one-half-months-old baby has been vomiting for some time. She has been getting protein milk, then a dried milk, then a soured milk with maltose. The doctor called her a 'vomiting baby.' I asked him if I could use fresh milk and he said she would vomit just the same. He did give her cereal (rice) and put milk in this. Why can't she have milk in a formula if she can take it with cereal?"

"I am so discouraged. Recently I decided to try fresh milk and maltose, and for one week she hasn't vomited. But she broke out in a rash. Could you send me a leaflet?"

MANY THINGS MAY BE WRONG

There may be more than one thing amiss here. If your baby is sensitive to milk, then the choice of any of the processed milks, dried, or evaporated, or well boiled fresh milk would be better than just fresh milk, unsterilized.

It is possible that your baby's sensitivity simply took a new form and progressed from vomiting, when on processed milks, to a rash when you used fresh milk. It is also possible that she has a rice sensitivity, and this caused the rash. The problem is far from a simple one.

TRY PROCESSED MILK

In addition to the leaflet on vomiting, you would like one on "What Mothers Should Know About Eczeema," which can be included in the same envelope.

My advice is to try a processed milk again, and use the rice in each bottle, simply plain rice thick enough to be called gruel. At least give this combination another trial. In changing from one type of milk to another you are apt to become confused unless you do but one new thing at a time, so that you are in a better position to say what might be causing the vomiting. I shall be glad to hear from you again.

To-morrow: "Teach Child Independence and Respect for Authority."

The drama team of the Young People's Society of Metropolitan United Church which won the J. W. Spencer Trophy, emblematic of the championship of the Drama Festival conducted under the auspices of the Young People's Union, is shown in the above picture. The festival was held last week in the Metropolitan Church, and attracted a large and fine list of entries. Those in the picture are as follows: Standing (left to right): Catherine Craig, who took the part of Barbara McKenna; a Chinese student; Elbert Wood, president of the college; Douglas Ritchie, a student, and Edith White, who played Wanda. Seated—Genevieve Knapp, a secretary; Rev. J. H. A. Warr, director of the team, and Hazel McPhee, prompter.

LEAGUE GETS OUT A PAPER

Toronto Mail and Empire Tries Novel Experiment For Day

Canadian Press
Toronto, Nov. 28.—The Junior League of this city recently captured The Mail and Empire's experiment for a day. The paper, published daily, was a fifty-eight-page daily newspaper with many original contributions. Officers and members of the organization manned the desks in the paper's offices and entered ardently into the work of the night. The issue was credited as the joint product of 350 members of the league and the co-operation of the regular staff.

Mrs. W. Halden Meek, Toronto president of the Junior League, occupied the chair of managing director. Agnes Armstrong presided at the copy desk as managing editor and Mrs. W. B. Watson was director of advertising. Margaret Gouinlock acted as sporting editor, while Margaret Rolph substituted for the financial editor. Leone Sydnam contributed to the editorial page. Other members of the league did city hall and other editorial bests for the day.

Miss Armstrong as managing director wrote she had difficulties in finding a member of her staff who would cover a wrestling match. "It is a thankless job," she said, "for first of all the girl whom you ask to write, and then quite suddenly when she realizes you are not joking, she goes feminine and Victorian on you. 'My dear, I just can't bear to hear those thumps, when they bounce on the floor.'"

Miss Armstrong ventured the opinion "it is all bunk about women of the twentieth century loving men's sport."

WOMEN AND STOCKS

Margaret Rolph in her capacity of financial editor declared the stock market to most women presented a quick way to make easy money. "She attacked it in the same way she does a horse race; a sure tip gleaned from some friend's brother's cousin and she is away." Few women who speculate in this way have any real knowledge of the companies in which they are investing, nor do they care, was Miss Rolph's opinion.

In direct contrast to the women speculating in the market, a number of women investing in sound securities, such as high-grade bonds, etc. Such women, probably reinvesting capital, are cautious beyond words. They make numerous inquiries, and although they eventually may rely on their broker's advice, they have to receive a more or less gilt-edged soaking before signing on the dotted line.

Community Club To Hold Bazaar

The Esquimalt Community Club will hold a Christmas sale of work and home-cooking on Monday, December 3, in the guild room, St. Paul's Garrison Church. The opening ceremony will be performed by Reeve Lockley at 2.30 o'clock. There will be stalls for the sale of plain and fancy needlework, home-cooking and candles. House-houses will be an added attraction. Afternoon tea will be served, and tea-readings will be given by experts.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S SOCIETIES

FIRST UNITED Y.P.S.

The regular meeting of the First United Young People's Society was held on Monday night, when a very interesting and educational programme was arranged under the direction of the citizenship committee. After a unique devotional period, based on the theme, "E.P.I.C." led by Miss Margaret James, the president, the programme was given by the evening, Rev. C. G. MacKenzie, who gave a very inspiring talk on "Christian Citizenship," in which he explained how and why young people should become good citizens.

METROPOLITAN Y.P.S.

The Young People's Society resumed their regular meeting Monday night under the theme of "One Great Fellowship." Rev. J. H. A. Warr led in a lively sing-song. A dramatized worship service was conducted by Miss Ruth Saunders, assisted by Miss Genevieve Knapp, Miss Joyce Dixon, Miss Doris Smith and Elbert Woods. Misses Elsie Le Greley and Dorothy Christie, and Rev. J. H. A. Warr contributed. Vice-president Elbert Wood introduced a number of young people, who read letters on the experiences of missionaries. Those taking part were: Genevieve Knapp, Marion McDonald, Myrna Fuller, Josephine Blair, Christopher Sayler.

President Herbert Simpson announced the following: A meeting of the executive to be held on Monday at 10.30 p.m.; ping-pong game with Hurlers at Victoria West. Next week Mr. and Mrs. Jarley's was to be presented. These expensive and exclusive models of the Jarleys have been collected from the remotest parts of the world. Bring a friend and let them enjoy it, too.

STAR BLAMES POOR PICTURES

Lillian Harvey Says She Is Hollywood's "Forgotten Woman"

Associated Press
Hollywood, Nov. 28.—Lillian Harvey, slender English actress, who not so long ago was the reigning favorite of film-goers in five European capitals, believes she is Hollywood's "forgotten woman" to-day.

Nearly two years ago, heralded by one of the most furious bombardments of publicity in movie history, she was won from the hands of British producers.

To-day, she says, "My dearest wish is to make one half-way decent picture in Hollywood. I would work for nothing. If after that I find American audiences don't like me, well, that's all right. I'll be the old Hollywood story. Poor pictures first. With Paul Martin, European director, for the first time I had a story based on the life of Franz Schubert, the composer. Her employers bought the story and gave it a budget of $250,000 for production costs. Then the studio chopped this budget in half, and the script was returned to the scenario department for 'fixing.' She waited to see just how much it had been 'fixed' to-day.

When she did, she followed Martin, who already had walked off the lot.

Whether there will be a second Hollywood chapter in Lillian Harvey's life depends on a number of things. Her English employers are offering a three-picture contract at a fabulous salary. She can go back to the Continent, resume her travels, make pictures in English, French and German—all of which she speaks fluently, or she can remain here and fight it out.

LADY HODGE IS DENIED DECREE

Jury Stops Divorce Petition of Former Countess of Cathcart

Associated Press
London, Nov. 27.—The petition of Lady Vera Hodge, the former Countess of Cathcart, for a divorce from her seventy-five-year-old millionaire husband on the ground of misconduct, was abruptly denied yesterday. The jury interrupted to say it had heard enough evidence and that it found there was no misconduct.

Lady Hodge, who married her third husband, Sir Rowland Hodge, after ten days' acquaintance, September 30, 1930, presented her case before a court presided over by Sir Boyd Merriam. She claimed that her husband had been unfaithful and named Miss Enid Patricia O'Dare as co-respondent.

Both Sir Rowland and Miss O'Dare denied the charge. The jury reached its decision without leaving the box. Following the defendants' denial of misconduct, the court president summed up the case, calling Miss O'Dare, who is twenty-eight years old, "the young woman, who at one time was the husband's mistress."

Sir Boyd reviewed the claim that Sir Rowland and Miss O'Dare broke off their relations in 1929, when a boy born to them was reaching the age "when he would notice things, and it was desired to bring him up in ignorance of his parentage."

Quickly on to Douglas and to Belfast Linn Shoppe at 1625 Douglas. 'Tis in a new location this Christmas—a fine new store, well lighted, where the fine lines be well displayed to advantage. Such wonderful Christmas gift fine Irish linen make, so many pieces, hand-embroidered in some dainty color, Irish linen handkerchiefs, three in a box, all new—pure white and some in colors—from 35c. Hand-made lace doilies that do look so frail yet be so very tough from 5c; real Irish linen cloths, embroidered in fine effects at 85c. Myself do immediately pick a fine sewing bag in Chinese grass linen hand-embroidered. There be a pocket for foot or, silk—ah!—its bud 35c. 'Tis there be many gift suggestions. 'Tis impossible to tell of all. One must visit the Belfast Linn Shoppe to see them.

'Tis a thrilling day—the sun be shining brightly and we be nip of frost in the air doth brighten eyes and cheeks. A walk by the sea would be exhilarating—and do hurry on with this thought in my mind.

Am so filled with well being at the freshness of the weather, I do reach the English Bakery almost before I do think of my fine goods. Be some of their fine mince pies for pie this night. 'Tis made of finest ingredients, so toothsome and without wholesome—I do wonder sometimes the whole town do not buy their mince pies there. Best of all, it be but 25c a pound. On going in the shoppe see a goodly supply of almond cake, from but 85c a dozen. Then, too, there be the good old-fashioned plum cake, another lot be filled with pineapple and cherries and when I did taste a bit it did seem verily good. The English Bakery have fine puddings and cakes ready now for overseas. 'Tis time to order.

Being so close, I can but enter Wilfrid Gibson's Studio to have another look at the fine mounts he doth display. Some be of soft greyish black ground, with fine lines of gold and black trim. Easel frames—all sizes—from but 85c a dozen. Then, too, there be Mister Gibson's fine art. He doth finish one likeness or two—or mayhap more, just as one wishes or can pay for. So many there be who wish their likenesses done in oil, in watercolor, in gouache, in pencil, in monie. This doth solve their problem. Then, too, there be the kiddies. 'Tis time to have a memory of the wee things before they lengthen out—and Mister Gibson doth have a way with children. He doth get a splendid likeness.

Out again to find the sun still calling. I think "my wee Jocks at it, he, his soft eyes all pleading and his sharp ears cocked—and I do fancy a sun at the sea, so with arms filled with parcels and gay heart. I do on home to spend a lazy afternoon.

This night, 't is into town to attend the fine picture "Thine Is My Heart." Home—all filled with music. Sam's death hum happily and myself cannot forbear to try a note as I do pen these lines. 'Tis has been a perfect day and I do to be bed weary but wonderfully pleased.

With thoughts of dinings in my head did wind my way down Government Street to the Period Art Store in Belmont Building. Last week I did glance but fleetingly at Mr. Reynolds's fine new china services. Here be wonderful selections—so many patterns, all of good English ware—and many be open stock that can be added to from year to year. A special offer did attract me mightily. 'Tis a seventy-two piece dinner service in good English china, and at so reasonable a price—only $15.00. Strange as it may seem, I did not see another way I see another offer in two fine patterns. Derbyshire china, twenty-one pieces—La! but $5.85. Methinks I must hint to Samuel that Period Art do stock such perfect china.

'Tis so easy to turn the corner from Government Street to Humboldt Street and to stop at the Arctic Studio. Am fascinated by the wealth of fine articles I find there—some be real museum pieces—and some be very new, so authentic and so typical of the great country we live in. Am here enticed by a showing of Alaskan Black Diamonds. Mysterious these stones be, so softly smooth and shining, and shining, in way with children. He doth get a splendid likeness.

Richard Dix Likes Doing Outdoor Films

Finds Writing a Movie Column Not So Easy; Always Planned Vacation, But Failed to Get Away; Making a Zane Grey Film

(Editor's note.—Richard Dix writes his Hollywood column to-day, as seventh in the list of twelve film favorites who are doing the job for Dan Thomas, The Times regular correspondent).

By RICHARD DIX

November 28.—"Sure!" I said, with a blithe wave of the hand. "I'll just write a column for you, boy, that'll be a column!" This, a few days ago, when my old friend, Dan Thomas, vacation-minded, suggested my one-day pinch-hitting for him.

And is my face red? Jot off a column! I've been staring at a piece of blank paper, chewing the end of a pencil for the last hour. I thought a column could be whipped up between my attempts to "say something."

Speaking of vacations, or was I?

Well, anyway, I was vacation-minded myself . . . for eleven years I had vacation on the mind. After every picture I intended to go—here, or there. I faithfully listed the places I was going to see when I got that vacation.

Anyone can tell you that a list eleven years long takes a good time to work out. So I found that, to keep my word to myself, I was on my way around the world on an itinerary which covered one year of nomading.

THE FIRST FIRE CALL

But the old fire horse instincts got the better of me when I got as far as New York. Seeing plays began to pull after a while . . . I guess I was finding out how a fire horse really feels . . . when he's in pasture . . . watching the fire business going on without him.

RKO had wired me to come back on a new contract, and I wanted to. It was my bride who said SHE wanted to come home . . . and saved me the explanation of why I wanted to stop a vacation which had been a topic of conversation for so long. Understanding, my bride!

This new Zane Grey story is more than just a picture, too. Years ago, when Zane Grey wrote "The Vanishing American" for me, he told me of this story . . . "West of the Pecos" . . . a story of a man he had known in Texas . . . a real character, which proved that "life is stranger than fiction" comment we hear so often.

And Grey told me he would never sell the story for picture purposes unless he knew I was to play "Pecos"

Richard Dix

... when a man like Grey keeps his word like that . . . what's a vacation?

BACK TO OUTDOOR PICTURES

It's great to be doing an outdoor special again . . . I feel sure that such productions are coming back to enjoy the vogue they once had as a vogue which contributed so much to the great growth of the industry . . . healthy, vigorous drama in a setting which could take the fans out of the humdrum of the city lives and give them the romance which they could never have.

It's the spirit of the times, too . . . down to earth . . . and I'm personally grateful because it's brought me home.

MAIL TO MARTHA SLEEPER

Now that you know how I feel about the column and the picture, I want to tell you about a plucky little actress who is getting a great chance in the film. Martha Sleeper, a real trouper, who has never before had the opportunity to show what an intelligent and talented young actress she is.

I want to go on record saying that I've never met a girl with greater potentialities . . . and my wife agrees. She masquerades as a boy most of the way through the story, and although she cherishes a desire to look her best at social gatherings, she scored the wins the studio had prepared for her and cut her own hair in a manner which would drive any barber mad . . . but it's right for the role.

BOGGED!

We've been locationing at Sherwood Lake, back in the mountains about halfway to Santa Barbara, and the laugh of the location still seems to me to prove something in the way of psychology. In taking scenes where the herd of 100 Texas longhorns which we have imported for the picture, cross the river, several of the steers were bugged. And funny as their frantic efforts, to extricate themselves might have been, there was no laughter. Men worked quickly, sympathetically, to help them.

Then one of the actors got bugged, up to his waist in the muck and mud as a matter. But his frenzied efforts produced only side-splitting laughter. Now explain that if you can.

Maybe my frenzied struggles with this column are as funny to Dan Thomas . . . they are as serious to me as being bugged.

Next: Ruby Keeler.

PENN-CORNELL GAME ON AIR

Ted Husing Will Cover Great Thanksgiving Day Event For Seventh Time

The United States Thanksgiving Day's traditional football game—the Penn-Cornell contest at Franklin Field, Philadelphia—will be described, play-by-play, over the Columbia network to-morrow by Ted Husing, who has been giving CBS football fans a word-for-word account of the game for the last six years. The game is scheduled to go on the air at 11 to 1:30 p.m. P.M.

With the exception of 1918, Penn and Cornell have met at Franklin Field every Turkey Day since 1893, and almost invariably the game has been a tight one. Each year the result is usually a close-up—the sports writers finding it wise to throw out all previous records and do their predicting after the final whistle has been blown.

This year, both teams have been rather unfortunate, losing to smaller schools at the beginning of the season. So far, Gil Dobie's men have lost four games and won two, and "The Quakers" have won three and lost four.

The broadcast will come to Victoria listeners over stations KOL, KVI and KSL.

SALT SPRING

Ganges, Nov. 28.—The match in the junior league between Esquimalt and Salt Spring teams was played Sunday on the Mahon Hall grounds before a good crowd of spectators. The keenly contested fight ended in a victory for the Islanders, 4 to 3. The Salt Spring line-up was as follows: Goal, Percy Nelson; Dermot, Desmond and Paddy Crofton, J. Akerman, Fred Morris, T. Isherwood, Cyril Beech, Mac Mount, P. Rowland and T. Shepherd.

Thomas Reid, Burgoyne Valley, has left for Montreal, from where he will sail on St. Antonia for Glasgow, en route to Ayrshire, Scotland, on an extended visit.

Miss Marjorie Hardy arrived this week from Vancouver and will be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. K. Butterfield here.

Mrs. H. Marcus, who has just returned from an extended visit to England, is the guest of her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. D. Reid, "Bordland," Booth's Canal, Central Salt Spring Island.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Jansen, Ganges, are relatives on the birth of a daughter at the Lady Minto Hospital.

On Wednesday, November 28, the ladies of the South Salt Spring United Church congregation will put on a play followed by a variety concert. There will also be a sale of work, the proceeds being in aid of repairs to the Burgoyne Valley church.

During the past four years
Life Insurance Companies have paid in Canada
$500,000 A DAY
To Policyholders and Beneficiaries

HALF A MILLION DOLLARS every working day!
That's what policyholders and beneficiaries have received from Life Insurance companies in Canada—day after day through the "hardest" times Canada has ever known.
When money was scarce—when incomes were sharply reduced—Life Insurance continued to make its large cash payments daily.

From 1930 to 1933 inclusive, Life Insurance in Canada paid $500,000,000 to policyholders—and $180,000,000 to beneficiaries.
These amounts were distributed to citizens of all classes resident in the townships, towns, villages and cities of Canada.
Life Insurance meets every claim promptly and pays one hundred cents on the dollar.
Stand by your Life Insurance. It will always stand by you.

and Card of Thanks, $1.50 per insertion.

In computing the number of words in an advertisement, estimate groups of three or less figures as one word. Dollar marks and all abbreviations count as one word.

In estimating the number of lines in an advertisement, count five words for the first two lines and seven words for each line thereafter. This is not an absolute guide to the number of lines, much depending on the length of the individual words.

The Times will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion of any advertisement ordered for more than one issue. Any claim for return of money or error or omission must be made within thirty days from the date of the same otherwise the claim will not be allowed.

Advertisers who desire it may have replies addressed to a box at The Times

Office and forwarded to their private address. A charge of 10¢ is made for this service.

Subscribers wishing their addresses changed should notify this office as well as the carrier. If your times is missing, phone E4175 before 8 a.m. and a copy will be sent by special messenger.

ARMS INQUIRY CHARGES MADE

U.S. Committee Claims Government Departments Withholding Information

Washington, Nov. 28.—The United States Senate munitions committee is calling for a showdown with other government departments, which—committee investigators charge—are blocking the arms inquiry by withholding needed information.

A special meeting of the committee, headed by Senator Gerald Nye, North Dakota Republican, has been called for next Monday. Then the matter will be thrashed out with officials of the departments concerned.

Nye and his colleagues are prepared to remind the department executives that the Roosevelt administration has ordered their co-operation.

Committee employees are known to have reported they had been refused permission in several instances to examine departmental documents bearing on munitions deals. A further complaint will be that the use of data already furnished has been prohibited, so far as the actual hearing themselves are concerned.

In this connection, a usually well-informed source said that a State Department report on the German arms situation was "suppressed" during the hearings last fall.

Previously, the State Department had received a series of protests from several countries, Argentina, Mexico and Great Britain among them, over testimony in the arms inquiry.

OUTLINES NRA FOR FRANCE

Premier Flaminio Planning "Depression Legislation" For Nation

Paris, Nov. 28.—Premier Flaminio, speaking to the nation yesterday evening, promised France something like the NRA to help the nation out of the industrial doldrums.

A programme of "depression legislation" for adaptation of industrial production to consumption was outlined by the Premier in an address at a banquet of commercial and industrial organizations. The speech was broadcast.

"The legislation," the Premier said, "will legalize and render obligatory, only for the duration of the depression and under certain guarantees in favor of consumers, producers' agreements tending to regulate production."

A "depression" of experts will decide, moreover, what industries cost the country more than they yield and those which must be protected.

Details of the new plan were not disclosed.

M. Flaminio, rejecting firmly the idea of devaluing the franc, said it no longer agreed with the facts since "devaluation in France is nearly over" and "world prices in terms of gold are tending to reach the level of French prices."

Most people try to be amiable, but Ned Sparks is just the opposite. Sparks explained between scenes of "Marie Galante," in which he has a leading role, how he keeps himself in a snarling mood.

Sparks has hired a chauffeur who annoys him just enough to "keep me just nicely stirred up all the time, so that I can be hard-boiled convincingly without straining for the effect."

Spencer Tracy and Ketti Gallian lead the cast of "Marie Galante," while Helen Morgan, Siegfried Rumann, Robert Lorraine, Leslie Fenton, Arthur Byron, Jay C. Flippen and Stepin Fetchit, with Sparks, contribute supporting roles.

Intelligence of Crow Doubted

No Brain Power Shown by Bird Dropping Bone on to Skylight, Market Commissioner Avers

The intelligence of the crow, lauded by such writers as Ernest Seton Thompson, comes under question by Major M. Kirkpatrick Crockett, city markets commissioner.

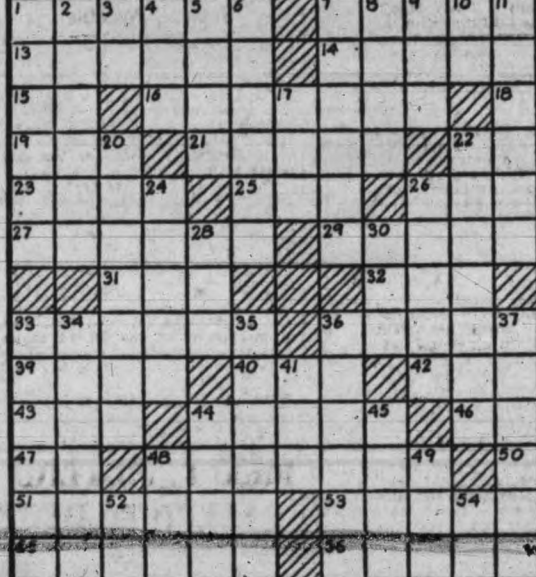

A student of natural life to a considerable extent, he has often admired the brains shown by the ebony feathered bird as they picked claims from the beach and dropped them on the rocks to break the hard shells and expose the tender flesh.

But when a stupid old crow mistakes a soup bone for a clam and the glass skylight in the market building for rocks, he questions their reasoning power—particularly when, as happened last week, the bone, dropping on the glass, costs the city $4.60.

Carl Brisson has left Hollywood for a week's vacation in Yosemite National Park in the High Sierras. He took along 1,000 feet of sixteen-millimeter motion picture film, to record his trip on celluloid. He will send a print to his brother in Copenhagen, Denmark. On his return Brisson will prepare for his second starring film, "All the King's Horses."

THE SCREEN

COLUMBIA THEATRE

Rustling leaves may hit the poet's fancy, but they do not appeal at all to Dick Bennett, sound man on "Massacre," the Richard Barthelmess starring picture for First National, which is now showing at the Columbia Theatre. The company was on location in the desert, "shooting," a tumble-down shack in which Barthelmess finds his screen sister bound and gagged when the leaves interfere.

The girl is so overwrought by her experience that she can barely whisper to Barthelmess. The scene was shot and the sound man discovered that not a word she said could be heard. There was a roaring sound that completely drowned out the sound of the girl's voice.

After some experimenting it was discovered that wind blowing through a scrub oak rustled the leaves and the sound was amplified on the recorder that it amounted to a roar. The tree was cut down before the scene could be shot.

CAPITOL THEATRE

Although Clarence Muse, famous negro screen actor, stage actor and composer, has what critics pronounce one of the finest speaking and singing voices, his role in Reliance's million dollar production, "The Count of Monte Cristo," does not permit him to utter a sound. He plays All, the mute, in this filmization of the Alexandre Dumas novel.

DOMINION THEATRE

"Thine Is My Heart," the British picture of outstanding beauty, is now at the Dominion Theatre. Frank Schuster, one of the greatest song writers known in musical history, has been reincarnated by Richard Tauber, the noted German tenor, in England. "Thine Is My Heart" produced under its real name, "Blossom Time," and while copyright laws forbid use of the title in Canada, yet that is what the picture really is.

PLAYHOUSE THEATRE

It has not taken Charlotte Henry long to grow up. After appearing in "Alice in Wonderland," she began a tour with Will Rogers in "Ah, Wilderness," which gave her more experience than the average actress gets in years, for Rogers rarely reads his lines twice the same. "The Human Side," a new Universal picture now showing at the Playhouse Theatre, is the first film Charlotte has done since her stage appearance. The picture stars Adolphe Menjou with Doris Kenyon, Betty Lawford and Reginald Owen.

NEW ROAD SHOW TO OPEN FRIDAY

Some clever new vaudeville will be shown at the Empire Theatre on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, Nov. 29, 30 and Dec. 1, respectively.

Being by Ralph Callandine, manager of the theatre. This show has been heralded up and down the Pacific Coast as one of the best of such programmes to take the road this season.

Although the bill is an all headline show, the famous comedy team of Lowe and Hite, perhaps the most outstanding as it is something different from anything ever seen in Victoria before. Eddie Lowe for the past several seasons has been featured comedian and dancer in many of the successful Broadway productions, while his partner, Ernie Hite, is the most graceful big man in the world. He stands seven feet eight inches in his stockings, but is a most agile dancer and helps Mr. Lowe a great deal in putting over one of the most hilarious acts of the season.

The Three Stepsons, trio of colored boys, are real mile-a-minute tap dancers, who also perform a little acrobatic work.

Students Suspended at Louisiana University For "Disrespect" to Senator

Baton Rouge, La., Nov. 28.—Twenty-five students at Louisiana State University stood suspended to-day for "gross disrespect" because they signed a petition yesterday condemning university authorities for "censorship."

The Revellie, student publication, according to a statement by President James M. Smith.

The entire staff of The Revellie resigned because President Smith had informed them they would not be permitted to print anything that might be displeasing to U.S. Senator Huey P. Long, the state's "dictator."

Students of the journalism school met yesterday and drew up petitions declaring they would not contribute anything further to the newspaper until the staff was restored and the "censorship" lifted.

The office of The Revellie was closed and deserted. On the door was a sign:

"Defunct—By order of Huey, the state, the God. For sale, one key to Revellie office."

CAMPUS FIGHTS ARE BARRED

Student Council of U.B.C. Warns of Disciplinary Action

Vancouver, Nov. 28.—Fighting on the campus of the University of British Columbia will call for disciplinary action against the offenders following a resolution adopted by the student council, Murray Mather, council president, announced yesterday evening.

The resolution provides that "in case of any further fights on the campus, the privileges of classes or faculties concerned may be revoked and individual participants subjected to whatever penalties the disciplinary committee recommends."

The action was taken following several recent campus fights.

AMENDMENT VOTED DOWN

London, Nov. 28.—The House of Commons swamped a Liberal amendment to the reply to the Speech from the Throne yesterday evening after Major D. J. Colville, parliamentary secretary to the Overseas Trade Department, had declared the Ottawa trade agreement had resulted in a 22 per cent increase in the export of British goods to the dominions.

The Liberal amendment, which "regretted the government's policy is not conducive to the restoration of imperial and world trade," was rejected by a vote of 286 to twenty-five. On Monday evening the Commons rejected a Labor amendment criticizing the government for failure to have a constructive policy for establishment of collective peace.

Major Colville justified the empire trade pact. He described the policy agreed on at Ottawa in 1932 as a firm basis on which Britain could stand in negotiating with foreign countries.

IS LAID TO REST

The remains of John Cook, who passed away on November 23, were laid to rest this morning. The funeral service was held at 9 o'clock at St. Andrew's Cathedral, Rev. Father Roberts officiating at requiem mass. There was a large congregation of friends and relatives, the late Mr. Cook being one of a family of early pioneers of Victoria. The casket was covered with beautiful floral offerings. The following were pallbearers: C. R. Johnston, James Greig, J. Mel-dram, F. Botford, James "mour and Arthur Jacques. Interment was in Ross Bay Cemetery.

Mines Attract Much Capital

New Companies in B.C. Last Year Capitalized at $108,821,725

In British Columbia during the last year a total of 155 new mining companies were formed with a combined capitalization of $108,821,725, according to statistics released by Hon. George S. Pearson, Minister of Mines, to-day.

They included eighty-three public companies capitalized at $94,568,725 and seventy-two private companies capitalized at $14,253,000.

In a computation made by Dr. J. F. Walker, provincial mineralogist, it is estimated the public companies raised something like $4,709,437 on their stock.

"Last year four dividend-paying mining companies in British Columbia with par value stock of $30,000,000 paid $2,925,276, in dividends. In the case of one company some of this profit may be attributed to operations outside of the province. This year the same companies are paying $4,833,000.

"It would therefore appear that during a mining boom slightly more money is put into the ground than is taken out, dividends but in normal years such evidently is not the case."

The monthly meeting of the presby-terial executive of the United Church will be held on Friday at 2:30 p.m. in the parlor of First United Church.

NEWS IN BRIEF

The B.C. joint committee on unemployment has secured permission for a tag day on Saturday to raise funds to finance the campaign for increased relief. Assistance will be appreciated by members of the organization.

Another week's opportunity to pay delinquent road and poll taxes was given eighteen persons in the City Police Court this morning. Norman Lord, city tax collector, reported a number who were in arrears had paid the tax but steps were being taken to prosecute those who continue to delay.

The annual general meeting of the Boy Scouts Association (Victoria District), will be held in the district headquarters, 1034 Johnson Street, on Thursday, December 13, at 8 p.m. A cordial invitation to attend this meeting is extended to all those interested in scouting in the Victoria district.

Mary Agnes Murray Hughes of Hyde Park, Books Road, to-day won her divorce and custody of her daughter from George Frank Hughes, residing at a George Road auto camp. Mr. Justice H. B. Robertson of the Supreme Court ordered a decree absolute after hearing the case presented by W. T. Strath, counsel for Mrs. Hughes.

The weekly card party of the Victoria West Liberal Social Club was held at their clubrooms, 414 Skinner Street. Ten tables of five hundred were played. The president's prize was won by T. Crossman. The ladies' special prize was won by Mrs. H. L. Richardson; gentlemen's first, Pat Harris; ladies' first, Mrs. Pat Harris; ladies' consolation, Mrs. F. Thompson.

Ward Two Saanich Liberal Association will be hosts at an informal gathering to be held to-morrow evening at 8 p.m. in St. Mark's Hall. A varied programme of musical and vocal items will be offered during the evening, and short addresses given by prominent Liberals. Refreshments will be served, and if time permits a short dance will conclude the evening's entertainment. All Saanich Liberals are invited to attend.

Helen Angela Fisher White of Esquimalt, to-day was awarded her divorce from Colin White, officer steward of the H.M.C.S. Skeena. Mr. Justice H. B. Robertson of the Supreme Court after hearing the evidence presented by H. A. Beckwith, counsel for Mrs. White, ordered a decree absolute, with custody of the daughter to Mrs. White. J. Percival Wills was counsel in court for the husband.

The programme for the Scottish concert, to be given at the Britannia Branch, Canadian Legion, Friday, is as follows: Band selections; opening remarks, Col. R. Ross Napier; bagpipe selection, Pipe Major Donald Cameron; vocal solo, Stanley Honeychurch; Highland Fling, Gordon Dewar; solo, Mr. Buckler; solo, Mrs. McCoy Jamieson; piano solo, Miss Dawson; band quartette, Scotch airs; Mrs. Jamieson; vocal solo, Stanley Honeychurch; vocal solo, Stanley Honeychurch; comic, G. The Mayflower Mining Company, which a few years ago was developing its own properties near Stewart, B.C., under the presidency of H. F. Gibson, was to-day restored to the official B.C. company list of active organizations, following an application made by G. Elliott, counsel, to Mr. Justice H. B. Robertson of the Supreme Court. The provincial company registrar struck the company off the list failed to file its annual statements. Now affairs in connection with the company have taken an upturn, it was explained.

Members of the Elks Club were hosts last night to a number of men from the Citizens' Recreation Rooms. The bridge playing room was opened, and the members of the club, the honors went to the Elks by a margin of thirty points. After the playing concluded supper was served in the dining-room, and H. Balcom, president of the Elks, welcomed the visitors and proposed a return game in the near future. A. H. Hundleby, secretary of the room, responded, expressing his appreciation to the president and members for their hospitality. Frank Merryfield, assisted by Arthur H. Chisholm, demonstrated a number of card tricks.

THREE YOUTHS ADMIT THEFT

Suspended Sentence Given Boys Who Broke Into Saanich Bake Shop

An eighteen-year-old youth and two juveniles were allowed off on suspended sentence when they pleaded guilty in the Saanich Police Court this morning to a charge of theft of cakes and buns from a confectionery store at the corner of Saanich Road and Douglas Streets on Sunday evening.

The facts of the theft were outlined by C. H. Tait, Saanich prosecutor. The boys went to the shop, owned by Miss Edith Bryant, on Sunday evening and the juveniles broke a window and stole the cakes while the third, a cripple, stood some distance away on watch. In addition to stealing cakes to the value of about $2, the youths had exposed a large quantity of bread which was ruined, Mr. Tait said.

In view of the youth of the accused the prosecution had laid a theft charge rather than one of breaking and entering, Mr. Tait said.

The magistrate said he would exercise discretion since it was the first time any of the boys had been charged. He gave suspended sentences on condition that restitution was made for the stolen property and the broken window.

FUNERAL AT SGOKE

The funeral of Mrs. Harry Eve, who passed away Monday at her home at Sooke, will take place to-morrow afternoon, the cortege leaving the family residence and proceeding to Knox Presbyterian Church, Sooke, where service will be held at 2:30 o'clock. Rev. Samuel Lunde will conduct the service, after which interment will be in the churchyard.

Flowers left at McCall Bros' Funeral Home before 1 o'clock to-morrow will be conveyed to the family residence.

Arion Concert Well Received

Forty-third Performance of Local Musical Club Staged at Empress Hotel

By G. J. D.

Another year has set a further notch to that local veteran organization of men singers, the Arion Club, towards its half-century of tradition.

Yesterday evening at the Empress Hotel ballroom the club opened its forty-third season, and its associate members and supporters turned out in their hundreds to give of their very evident approval.

The Arion Club has never been known to shortration its followers; indeed, it invariably provides an over plenitude of musical fare. A most interesting programme was not concluded until after 10:30 o'clock.

This, arranged for the occasion, was built up on the club's usual lines—that of legitimate male-voice items, and mostly numbers given in past seasons. One of these, which proved quite outstanding, was "Benediction of the Alps" (Gustav Baldamus), which was given twenty-six years ago.

These old numbers, peculiarly enough, always impress the more intimate side of the club's concert evenings. The first time yesterday were Sir Edward Elgar's "After Many a Dusty Mile," marked for its beautifully wrought music; Wilfred Gifford, under whose leadership, also beautiful music, and a finely-executed test of the club's balance, sostenuto and pianissimo, "Nature Sleeps, and All is Still," was richly endowed with these traits and "The Bell-Man," by Cecil Forsyth, in which the onomatopoeic effect of the watchman's toll of his bell, the chiming of the clock, four o'clock were well done in the bass section, the tenors countering in harmony. It was very enjoyable.

Truth to tell, however, the members did not rest themselves, or "draw" their listeners until after the interval, as in the first part the only number that really "went over" was that delightful Protheroe characteristic, "The Sentimental, De Sandman," in which the insistent applause brought forth the last verse, although "Brood and Sea Song," Ban-ock's "Brood and Sea Song," and the "King of the Hills" in the same composer's "Give a Rouse," had little energy and good diction. The "Benediction" number, in which Fred Gifford, vocal solo, Stanley Honeychurch; Highland Fling, Gordon Dewar; solo, Mr. Buckler; solo, Mrs. McCoy Jamieson; piano solo, Miss Dawson; band quartette, Scotch airs; Mrs. Jamieson; vocal solo, Stanley Honeychurch; vocal solo, Stanley Honeychurch; comic, G. Menelaws. Bert Zalla, accompanist.

In the second part "Moonrise" (J. Paché) had some excellent shading, and with its flowing accompaniment was one of the club's best efforts. In the number, "The Sentimental, De Sandman," by Cadman, it had an appropriately vigorous and stirring opening, but lost these later on to a singular degree. Frank Sehl, who conducted the program, drew his opportunity in the third stanza, "I am the Maker of worlds to be," herein surely did lie a splendid vocal enunciation of the "Three Chafers" (Truh) caught the fancy of those present, and the members, now on their mettle, were not loath to respond to the demand for a repetition.

Herbert Kent, conductor emeritus, conducted the two popular concluding numbers, "The Good Spirit," and a ways pleasing arrangement by John West of the famous "John Peel" song and the jolly rhythmic, three-four time, "The Good Spirit" (Lacome), which concluded with enthusiastic applause and a repetition of the last verse.

ASSISTING ARTIST

Mrs. W. N. Wilson, who assisted, deserves her outstanding position on western concert platforms. She sings ways pleases and uses her clear, beautiful soprano voice with an intimate knowledge of its excellent range, and with that vocal attribute, the effect of the song's message upon her hearers. She won her tests gloriously in her two groups of six numbers, especially in the two popular items, "Roberto, o tu che adoro" (Meyerbeer) and Benedict's "Bird" ("The Gypsy and the Bird," in the style of the nineteenth period. Her technical resources, her knowledge of the true, pure notes gave infinite pleasure, and brought her prolonged applause. Her breath control in Ernest Chausson's "Clouds" (the well-executed rills, with its attractive accompaniment and the sweet and daintily-interpreted "Shoes," by Manning, and a further number for her audience in Grieg's surprisingly delightful "My Sweetheart Johann."

Mrs. Clifford Wren, the club's accompanist, in the club's program, was as usual able and sympathetic.

FUNERAL TO-MORROW

The funeral of Miss Lillian Dixon, who resided with her mother, Mr. A. Greenleaf, 1354 Harrison Street, will take place to-morrow afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Sands Mortuary. Rev. A. M. Archeson-Lyle will officiate and the remains will be laid to rest in the Royal Oak Burial Park.

Postpone Contest For Drama Trophy

Competition for the Vancouver Little Theatre Association trophy has been postponed until early in the new year, according to information received to-day by Ethel Reese Burns. The trophy, which is a silver cup, is presented to the best play of its more intimate apartments have been thrown open to the public. It is estimated that some 300,000 persons visit the building and grounds annually.

Mr. Brander's photographs were taken with special permission from the British Government, and are probably the best collections of their type in the Dominion.

Rev. Canon F. A. P. Chadwick was chairman of the meeting, and Miss Jean Burnett contributed two vocal solos.

Seattle Bishop Is Visitor Here

Stressing the friendly feeling existing between Seattle and Victoria, and in a wider sense between the United States and Canada, Rev. Gerald Shaughnessy, Bishop of Seattle, arrived in this city to-day to attend the ceremonies incident to the installation of Rev. John Hugh MacDonald of Antigonish, N.S., as Bishop of Victoria.

Bishop Shaughnessy is registered at the Empress Hotel, an accommodation by Father J. F. Gallagher, chancellor of the Seattle diocese.

"There has always been a spirit of the greatest friendliness and closest co-operation between Seattle and Victoria. Interchange of visits such as this between our dioceses, I feel sure, will assist in cementing the goodwill between the two countries," he said.

Bishop Shaughnessy, who was consecrated as Bishop of Seattle, September 19, 1933, is a native of Everett, Mass. He is a member of the Medieval Academy of America, an author of religious and historical books, and a contributor of magazine articles.

He is the author of "Has the Immigrant Kept the Faith?" and editor and translator of "The Way to the Cross" and "The Way to the Cross."

Bishop Shaughnessy succeeded Bishop O'Day in Seattle, and he is also a friend of Bishop Gerald Murray, formerly Bishop of Victoria.

FINE SHOOTING BRINGS PRAISE

Detective Inspector J. A. McLellan Commended For Scoring Possible

The performance of Detective Inspector John A. McLellan in registering a possible in the third match, weekly matches in the Western Indoor Pistol and Revolver League, was warmly commended by J. M. Amer, official league scorer, in a letter to C. L. Harrison, coach of the city police team.

The league match has been in progress for several weeks now and Inspector McLellan is the only competitor among nearly 200 leading shots of the Northwest, to score a possible.

Mr. Amer stated the score had been officially recognized by the league, and the Inspector's name placed on the honor list for the third match. The target was returned with the official stamp of the United States Revolver Association, under whose auspices the shoot is held, and Mr. Amer suggested the target might be posted on the notice board of the local range.

MISS F. MEYERS CALLED TO REST

Resided in St. Joseph's Hospital Many Years; Originated Linen Showers

Miss Frances (Fanny) Meyers, who for the last twenty-five years had been a resident at the institution, passed away yesterday evening in St. Joseph's Hospital, aged eighty-six years.

Miss Meyers was born in California and came to Victoria as a child. After some years here she returned to California to reside; but in 1903 again came back to Victoria, when she took up her residence at St. Joseph's Hospital.

On the death of the then superior, Mother Province, Miss Meyers returned to California, but came back again in 1915, when she took up her residence in the newly-erected annex on Humboldt Street.

As a resident she took much interest in the hospital's progress, and organized the hospital's first public linen shower with such success that it has been held continuously ever since under the auspices of the hospital.

In 1926 Miss Meyers suffered an attack of paralysis, which restricted her activities, but she retained her mental faculties until the end, and will be greatly missed in the institution.

Requiem mass will be held at St. Joseph's Cathedral on Saturday morning at 9 o'clock, after which the remains will be laid to rest in Ross Bay Cemetery.

HAMPTON COURT IS DESCRIBED

Story of Famous Palace Is Told and Illustrated By Francis W. Brander

The story of Hampton Court Palace, one of England's most ancient royal residences, built by Cardinal Wolsey in 1515, later presented to Henry VIII, and at the present day among the chief tourist show places of the British Isles, was told in word and picture by Francis W. Brander in St. John's Church hall.

Mr. Brander, who was formerly a resident of Surbiton, near Hampton Court, illustrated his address with some three score colored lantern slides, depicting the gardens, courts, the famous maze and the interior of the great palace.

Sir Christopher Wren, architect of St. Paul's Cathedral, added to the original structure raised by Wolsey, the speaker told his audience. The addition, built in the reign of William III, presents a striking contrast to the older portion of the structure. The palace, said Mr. Brander, is very little changed from the time of William III. In recent years many of its more intimate apartments have been thrown open to the public. It is estimated that some 300,000 persons visit the building and grounds annually.

JOHN ANDERSON PASSES AWAY

John Anderson, a retired prairie farmer, passed away yesterday evening at his home 320 Menzies Street, yesterday evening, aged eighty-four. He was born in Ontario and farmed in Saskatchewan for many years before coming to Victoria fourteen years ago.

He is survived by two sons, James Harvey Anderson, Meaford, Ont., and Ernest N. Anderson, Saskatchewan, and two daughters, Mrs. W. Drummond and Mrs. G. Michie, both of Victoria, and nine grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held on Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock from McCall Bros' Funeral Home, 110 Douglas Street. Rev. F. W. Drummond will officiate and interment will be in Royal Oak Burial Park.

Highway Named After Member

J. H. Schofield Honored; Minister Wires Congratulations

J. H. Schofield, former M.P.P. for Roseland-Trail, and dean of the Legislature for many years, was honored to-day at a ceremony on the highway between Roseland and Trail which has been given his name.

Hon. F. M. MacPherson, Minister of Public Works, wired congratulations to Mr. Schofield on the occasion.

The highway is a paved strip seven miles in length. It was built three years ago and was completed this year with the black-topping of one small section.

In a ceremony arranged by R. R. Burns, present member for the riding, and the boards of trade of Roseland and Trail, a plaque was unveiled to-day officially naming it the Schofield Highway.

Mr. Schofield was a member of the B.C. Legislature for twenty-five years.

RATEPAYERS ASK GRANT RETURNS

Members of the Victoria Ratepayers' Association, at a special meeting yesterday evening, endorsed the City Council's claims for a restoration of government grants to their former size and asked the city body to call a general meeting to hear the support of the ratepayers in general on that question.

A letter expressing their stand will go forward to the city in short time. At the meeting proposed by the ratepayers, those paying taxes would be given an opportunity to express their feelings on the question of government grants.

DESIRE MODERN PUBLIC MARKET

Metochosin Sheep Breeders Favor Improvement to Victoria Market

The improvement and enlargement of the Victoria Public Market was advocated at the annual meeting of the Metochosin Sheep Breeders' Association held in Metochosin on Monday evening.

A resolution was passed at the gathering calling for representation to be made to secure a portion of the federal emergency building appropriation to finance the construction. The modernization of the public market was the subject of a letter to the federal government of lower Vancouver Island.

Dr. W. R. Gunn, of the Provincial Marketing Board, was the speaker. He explained recent sheep marketing problems and defined the provincial powers in regard to regulation of primary products on the domestic market. A discussion led by C. E. Whittier, Griffith on general marketing problems followed, with Dr. Gunn answering questions.

Members of the association went on record in favor of lining up with other British Columbia sheep breeders' organizations with a view to co-operation, both in production and marketing.

Metochosin sheep breeders expressed the wish to form an advisory committee with other associations throughout the province to assist the Producers' Sheep Board when it was set up. The meeting also decided to contribute to a local fund to provide bounties for killing cougar.

FUNERAL TO-MORROW

The funeral of James Keith Wilson will take place at Hayward's B.C. Funeral Chapel to-morrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. J. S. Patterson conducting the service. Interment will be in the family plot in Ross Bay Cemetery.

F. J. CROWHURST HEADS S.P.C.A.

F. J. Crowhurst will succeed John Harvey as head of the Victoria branch of the S.P.C.A. He was elected president of the branch at the annual meeting in the Campbell Building yesterday evening.

J. T. Braden was re-elected vice-president, and A. R. Sherwood, re-appointed secretary-treasurer. George A. Allen was named inspector. Lindsey Crease, K.C., honorary counsel, and Mrs. R. Hamilton and G. Keown, honorary veterinary surgeon, were also named.

The executive committee will consist of W. G. Lemm, Commander C. H. R. Silingsby, Mrs. B. G. Walker, Miss T. Ferguson, Mrs. G. C. Bell, Miss E. B. Bass, Madame E. B. Vivenot, Mrs. James Stewart, Mrs. C. A. McEneaney and Mrs. George Read.

Mr. Harvey, retiring president, presented his annual report, which told of the activities conducted of the organization during the last year.

Mr. Sherwood gave the secretary-treasurer's report.

Inspector Allen's report stated 505 cases had been handled during the year and 8,605 animals impounded. Approximately 127 animals had been put to death, the report continued.

Mr. Braden appealed to the members to support the drive to have manufacturers produce more humane traps for use in fur country.

RECOVERY IS MORE STEADY

Canada's Progress Not So Erratic as in U.S., Says Cleveland Manufacturer

"Canada seems to be experiencing a more steady recovery than is the case in the United States," declared W. C. Treuhart, president of the Tremco Manufacturing Company of Cleveland, Ohio, and Toronto, Ont., in an interview at the Empress Hotel to-day.

"Our recovery in the United States may be more spectacular, but it is more erratic," he said, in telling of the refreshing buoyancy and optimism he had found in business circles throughout his tour of Canada.

"Recovery is going on here quietly and steadily. There is no let up to it. The trend is steadily upward," said Mr. Treuhart, when questioned as to the basis of his statements. "I have found that this country is progressing all along the line. The indices are in greater manufacturing activity in the east and in improved lumbering operations in the west. It is reflected in Canadian exports."

LIBERALIZED CREDITS

The C.W.A. programme, which had slowed up in the early summer, was now getting under way again, and new setting in the United States would now be speeded up, he added.

The U.S. extraordinary budget provided for an expenditure of between $3,000,000,000 and $4,000,000,000 to be divided between new construction and direct relief.

THE SPARKS MIRROR

BASEBALL'S FUNNIEST act—Al Schacht and Al Schacht—definitely is broken up, with Schacht following the Cronin from Washington to Boston.

Nick Altrock and Al Schacht went on entertaining American League crowds for several years after they had discontinued speaking. Intimates could not reconcile them, and they finally quit working together.

Many reasons were advanced for the break between the grizzled left-handed pitcher and Chicago's Hit-wonder of 1906 and his younger and creative partner.

It generally was ascribed to one of them punching too hard in portraying their version of the historic long count given Gene Tunney in Chicago, but Schacht now explains that it was caused by a property man's mistake.

Due to the slipup Schacht threw and banged Altrock on the chin with a real ball instead of a trick one.

Apologies offered by Schacht were brushed aside, and the feud was born.

Schacht is immensely pleased with the switch to the real ball, if for no other reason than he preferred to main with Cronin.

Schacht is vastly more than a clown in a baseball uniform, although he continually put on airs during his pitching days.

His favorite story is his ringing a ten-cent bounding shot into a game he was pitching at Reading against Baltimore in '22, and retiring the side.

Local Runners Out To Regain Honors Taken By Varsity

Keen Race Expected Between Bill Dale and Mansfield Beach in Half-mile

COLOR ADDED TO CONTESTS

A renewal of duels which have brightened many of the province's track meets during the summer and which created major interest in last season's indoor meet, will feature the Kiwanis-sponsored competitions between Varsity and Archie McKinnon's Flying Y boys at the Armories on Friday.

Holding major interest will be the struggle between Bill Dale, local high school flyer, and Mansfield Beach, pride of Vancouver's younger half-milers.

The pair have met twice this year in Vancouver in major meets which saw the establishment of some unusually good times for boys of their age.

Dale was beaten in the first race but came back sensationally to run Beach into the ground over the half-mile route in the provincial try-outs for the Canadian schoolboy tests in Hamilton.

Their race on Friday evening will be the rubber contest and should be keenly fought.

ADDITION FACES RIVAL

Joe Addison, beaten by Max Stewart in the tricky running on the Armories unorthodox track last winter, will be out to avenge himself against the U.B.C. star in the quarter-mile. While on a regular track the local British Empire Games performer would be a heavy favorite, he may find some difficulty in overcoming the Varsity boy on the concrete track where jockeying is almost as important as actual speed.

Chuck Cunningham will be out to regain his prestige in the mile. Last season he also took defeat in the event.

When Cronin was incapacitated last fall, he and Clark Griffith showed what they thought of Schacht by placing him in charge of the Senators.

At the start of the last week's game, Schacht, who has an answer for everything, explains this by saying that the club was so ridden by injuries that only a clown could have laughed it off.

A number of incidents marked the English League soccer programme on November 3. Naturally, Arsenal were the star of the team in the news.

Could not be right if they were not. Luck was with the London side when an obvious goal by "Dixie" Dean was disallowed by the referee.

When, naturally gave only what he saw.

Everton began as if they intended to rush Arsenal off the field, and the ball appeared to be well over the line when Moss knocked it out.

It was only the latter part that the referee was able to get a view of the Everton players made vehement appeals for a goal, but the referee, after consulting a linesman, stuck to his decision.

A curious match was that between Fulham and Southampton. At one time Southampton had three men off the field, and yet they led three at half time.

The warriors, patched up during the interval, returned when the game was resumed, but Southampton did not show up as well as they did when short-handed.

The hero of the Fulham side was Gibbons, the burly centre-half, who, practically taking the game into his own hands, scored three goals to enable his side to force a draw.

Another of soccer's curiosities was provided in the match between Middlebrough and Preston, which also ended in a 3-3 draw.

Time in the second half led by 3-0, all the goals being the result of brilliant work by Maxwell, really a centre-forward, who operated on the left wing. Just when the home supporters were thinking that all was lost Middlebrough made a tactical change.

Fenton, a slightly-built youngster, was shifted from the right wing to centre-forward, Yorton going on the wing. The youngster, who has been nursed by the club and fed on a special diet owing to his frailness, broke through three times for brilliant goals and pulled the game out of the fire.

Six-day Cyclists May Invade Japan

Coach Ingram Resigns Post

Berkeley, Calif., Nov. 28.—William "Navy Bill" Ingram resigned yesterday evening as head football coach of the University of California and Leonard "Stub" Allison, Ingram's first assistant, was named to succeed him.

Cotton May Play In Cup Matches

New York, Nov. 28.—A beau geste by the United States Professional Golfers' Association which would allow Great Britain to play Henry Cotton, its open golf champion, in the Ryder Cup matches against the United States at Ridgewood, N.J., next summer has been made by the P.G.A.

George Jacobus, P.G.A. president, yesterday disclosed he had written to the British P.G.A. urging a change in the deed of gift which would make birth, instead of birth and residence, the only qualification for membership on the team.

Under the present rules Cotton is not eligible as he is professional at a Brussels Club.

NEW NATIONAL HOCKEY SERIES

Maritime Followers Discuss Possibility of Canadian Commercial Play

Halifax, Nov. 28.—J. A. Hanway, K.C., president of the Maritime Hockey League and the new Maritime Mercantile Hockey League, came to Halifax on business yesterday and ran into a lot of talk about the possibilities for a Canadian commercial championship series.

"An excellent idea," he remarked, as he heard a proposal for a national competition along the lines of MacDonald Brier tankard curling bonspiel series is conducted in Ontario each spring.

Local hockey promoters suggested that the hockey series would bring together teams from the far west, the middle west and the east, and would some day rival the Allan Cup series in interest.

A trophy emblematic of the championship of the Maritime Mercantile League will change their names to represent various commercial interests.

U.S. Tennis Association May Stage Men's and Women's Events Together

New York, Nov. 28.—Combination of the men's and women's national tennis championships into a "American Wimbledon" next summer was forecast yesterday by Walter Merrill Hall, president of the United States Lawn Tennis Association.

The sanction and schedule committee has recommended such action, Hall said, and he thought it likely the executive committee also would view the proposal favorably when it meets in New York December 8 to lay plans for the national convention at Cincinnati in February.

The final decision will be up to the national meeting, but Hall said he believed there was a strong feeling in the U.S.L.T.A. that the experiment was worth a trial.

Hockey Loop May Turn Commercial

Windsor, Ont., Nov. 28.—Intimation that the Michigan-Ontario Amateur Hockey League may become a commercial organization, was given by President Harris Ardiel late yesterday, when commenting on reports emanating from Detroit concerning teams of his league in that city.

It had been rumored that Farm Crests and Holzhauser Farms planned to withdraw from the Michigan Amateur Athletic Union rather than accede to the demands of George Graves, president of the Michigan body, for a percentage of the gate receipts of all games at the Detroit Olympia.

"If Farm Crests and Holzhauser Farms decide to withdraw affiliations with the Michigan A.A.U., then it is likely the league will operate as a commercial organization," said Ardiel, who is also vice-chairman of the Ontario Athletic Commission.

GOLDSWORTHY IS SENT TO LONDON

Chicago, Nov. 28.—Leroy Goldsworthy, the Edmontonian who has gained about as much prominence in the sporting world for his baseball activities as he has for hockey, yesterday was loaned to London Teamsters of the International Hockey League, by Chicago Black Hawks.

The return of Milt "Doc" Romnes to the Hawks fold necessitated trimming of the Chicago staff.

A team that sold its aged members and a team that has too much sentiment for that entertained 9,000 in Madison Square Garden with a close, loose-checking duel until Armand Mondou scored a lucky winning goal and that assisted Canadiens out of the National Hockey League cellar.

During a scramble behind the Ranger net, Mondou tried to pass the puck out in front, where a teammate might get a shot. The rubber struck one of Earl Seibert's skates and was deflected into the cage. His back turned, Seibert didn't even know the puck was coming.

REVAMPED TEAM
A strange Ranger team it was that lost this game. Bill Cook, the old monarch of the Cook-Boucher-Cook firing brigade, played defence. But Cook played with the second-string forward line beside Murray Murdoch and Art Somers. The crafty Boucher was flanked by Cecil Dillon and Butch Keeling, a couple of boys from Owen Sound, Ont.

It didn't do any good. The Rangers slumped deeper into last place in the American section, having lost four games in six starts. There was not much attacking system yesterday evening and the defence barriers did not seem to be too thin and weak. Keeling, a couple of boys from Owen Sound, Ont.

Chicago Black Hawks, apparently as powerful as ever without Tommy Gorman, took the bench and the defence, took the American section and the Canadiens out of the National Hockey League cellar.

A strange Ranger team it was that lost this game. Bill Cook, the old monarch of the Cook-Boucher-Cook firing brigade, played defence. But Cook played with the second-string forward line beside Murray Murdoch and Art Somers. The crafty Boucher was flanked by Cecil Dillon and Butch Keeling, a couple of boys from Owen Sound, Ont.

It didn't do any good. The Rangers slumped deeper into last place in the American section, having lost four games in six starts. There was not much attacking system yesterday evening and the defence barriers did not seem to be too thin and weak. Keeling, a couple of boys from Owen Sound, Ont.

Chicago Black Hawks, apparently as powerful as ever without Tommy Gorman, took the bench and the defence, took the American section and the Canadiens out of the National Hockey League cellar.

During a scramble behind the Ranger net, Mondou tried to pass the puck out in front, where a teammate might get a shot. The rubber struck one of Earl Seibert's skates and was deflected into the cage. His back turned, Seibert didn't even know the puck was coming.

Winnipeg Wheat Ltd.

Winnipeg Wheat Up; Chicago Corn Soars

Chicago Corn Soars

Winnipeg, Nov. 28.—One million bushels of Canadian wheat was sold for export to-day and this, coupled with continued strength at Liverpool, sent wheat future prices climbing on the local market. The market was well maintained. Spreads advanced as much as 1 cent. Small quantity of oats and barely were sold to the United States.

the Winnipeg grain exchange. Values closed $\frac{3}{4}$ to $\frac{1}{2}$ cent higher.

Fractions were pared from the day's highs in a pre-closing flurry, but the close was strong. December futures finished at 74 1/4, May 83 1/4.

All news was bullish and values traded actively and strongly from the start.

Europe. Good purchase from Canadian mills, chiefly No. 1 northern wheat, also were reported.

Continued advance at Liverpool where prices closed 1½-1d higher. Added the return. Chicago held Corn futures closed strong at some reaction from the day's stop, but ½ to 1½ above yesterday's finish, May 88½ to ¾, wheat firm ¾ to ¾, May 98½ to ¾, oats ¾ to 1¼ ad.

Overseas reports indicated a better Continental demand for wheat.

Do You Dread Growing Old?

Suggests Preparing For Gracious Old Age

AMONG my acquaintances are a number of young women who have formed a club for the purpose of studying the Art of Growing Old, and, if this organization doesn't meet a long-felt want, I don't know any movement that does. For inasmuch as the only way we can escape age is by dying, and none of us is keen on accepting that alternative, the very least we can do is to try to grow old gracefully so that when we get around in our seventies we will be persona grata to our family and friends instead of being the affliction that grandpa and grandma and Aunt Gertrude so often are.

The only reason that age is unattractive is that the great majority of old people make it an alibi for slothfulness and selfishness and bad manners. They let themselves slump physically and mentally because they won't make the effort to keep well groomed and up with the times, and they grow peevish and fretful and complaining because they are too self-indulgent to deny themselves the pleasure of self-pity.

That age is unloved because it is unlovely is abundantly proved by the fact that when old people are charming and delightful they receive a homage that is not given to even the most radiant youth. They are marked figures in their circle. Indeed, age becomes a racket when instead of a misfortune that sinks them.

Any old woman can get the reputation of being a beauty on a hundredth part of the good looks that it takes a young one to get by on. Any old man who will read the daily papers and refrain from reminiscences of his youth can pose as an oracle in his club.

So I trust that these girls who are beginning to prepare for old age in their youth will begin by realizing that it is just as important for a old lady to be easy on the eyes as it is for a girl, and that the older a woman gets, the more necessary it is that she should pay attention to her grooming and have pretty clothes. Nobody wants to look at an old hag with trowy hair straggling over her collar and dowdy clothes that make her look like a bundle that mother tied up. But every eye is filled with admiration for a smart old lady who is a picture in lavender and old lace.

Next I trust these forward-looking young women will provide themselves with an entertaining line of conversation, to the end that they may not be bores when they are old. I urge upon them that they read and observe and think and store interesting incidents away in their memories so that they may have something to talk about besides the time little Johnny had the measles forty years ago, and Sally stumped her toe in 1900. Short of senility, there is no excuse for any one's monologuing about the insignificant experiences of his or her past, and when old people do this it is just because they are determined to enjoy talking about themselves, no matter how much it wearies their listeners.

Another preparation these students should make of the Art of Growing Old is to lay up as many outside interests as possible. It is so much capital to fall back upon on their rainy day. They should learn to play a good game of cards. They should belong to clubs and get interested in causes and keep up friendships so that they will have their own individual lives and not be forced to be parasites upon their children for their interests in life.

Still another preparation for old age is to keep an open mind and to recognize that the world changes, customs change, points of view alter, and that things are not necessarily wrong because they were not done in your day. No other thing makes old people harder to get along with than their ceaseless carping and fault-finding about everything their children and grandchildren do, and their invidious comparisons of the present with the past.

And, of course, if you want to be the sort of old person that could take the prize in any popularity contest, you must watch your step and not tell the same stories over and over again. You must refrain from giving advice and trying to enforce your opinions on others. You must be cheerful and good mannered and uncritical and patient with the wisdom of age that has seen that life works itself out somehow.

And it is this sort of lovely old age that these women will achieve who are beginning in youth to study the Art of Growing Old.

Uncle Wiggily's Thanksgiving

By HOWARD R. GARIS

At last the great day had arrived. It was Thanksgiving in Uncle Wiggily's hollow stump bungalow and over Woodland-on-top-of-the-Orange-Ice Mountains and other places.

Very early in the morning the bunny boys and girls and all the other animal children in Woodland arrived early. "Of course, it isn't like Christmas," said Baby Bunt, who was one of the first to slide down the hollow stump to the bungalow. "But it is almost as nice."

"And we'll have just as good things to eat now as we have Christmas," said Buster, a boy rabbit. "I love good things to eat."

"That isn't exactly what Thanksgiving is for," said Uncle Wiggily, who heard what Buster said. "Of course, all who can do so set out big tables of food on this feast day. But what it really is for is to make you think of some of the things for which you should be thankful."

"I'm thankful there's no school to-day," said Buster.

"And I'm thankful there's no school to-morrow, even if it is Friday," said Baby Bunt.

THINGS TO BE THANKFUL FOR

Uncle Wiggily laughed and said: "When you get older you will find other things than what to be thankful for."

"Is it all right to be thankful that we are all well and strong and can run out and dig for carrots and eat them?" asked Jingle.

"It is quite all right to be thankful that you are well and strong. Good health is one of the finest things in the world. But don't think so much about eating. Now hop out and play tag."

To the bunny rabbit children hopped out and met some pussy cat children and puppy dog children and ducks and guinea pigs and squirrels and they had lots of fun playing around.

Uncle Wiggily twinkled his pink nose, put on his hat and started for the front door.

"You aren't going out adventuring now, are you?" asked his wife.

"Why not?" he wanted to know.

"Because it's Thanksgiving," answered the rabbit lady. "It seems as if you might stay home on a holiday."

"Oh, I'll soon be back," said Mr. Longears. "I am just going to hop out to see what else I can be thankful for besides my pink nose which twinkles so nicely." Then he laughed and his wife laughed and Nurse Jane laughed and they were all very happy and thankful.

Uncle Wiggily had not been gone very long before he came hopping back to his bungalow very fast.

THREE ADVENTURES

"What's the matter?" asked his wife.

"Couldn't you see any adventure?"

"Oh, yes," answered Mr. Longears. "I saw three adventures, but they were the kind I don't like. I saw the Fox, the Wolf and the Bob Cat in the woods. But I turned and hopped back before they saw me. Now have we plenty to eat for Thanksgiving?" he asked.

"More than enough," said the rabbit lady.

"Then help me fill a basket with good things to eat," said the bunny. "We'll fill three baskets while we're at it."

"For whom?" asked Mrs. Longears.

"One for the Fox, one for the Wolf and one for the Bob Cat," said the bunny. "I will forgive them on this day. They looked very hungry. Perhaps if I feed them well they will let me alone until after Christmas. Fill three big baskets, my dear."

The baskets were filled and Uncle Wiggily left them in the woods for the Thank-

HOROSCOPE

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 29, 1934

Conflicting planetary aspects are active to-day, according to astrologers. The aspects tend to relax mind and body, encouraging memories far and away.

Heads of households are under a fortunate rule making for peace and serenity. The way is lucky for all who extend hospitality.

Women may be restless under this sway, which seems to disturb their relations with their elders. Maiden aunts and aged members of the family may be too reminiscent for real joy among the younger folk, who like to forget age and shortcomings.

Accidents appear to be forthcoming for real joy among the younger folk, who like to forget age and shortcomings. To-day, when there are so many accidents, it is a sign of a year of some perplexities in which many must make decisions of supreme moment.

Children born on this day probably will be sensitive and highly temperamental. Subjects of this sign of Sagittarius may be exceedingly intelligent and inclined to mysticism.

Louisa May Alcott, writer, was born on this day, 1832, which was also the birthday anniversary of her father, Bronson Alcott, philosopher, who was born in 1796.

NEW STUDY OF CANCER CLINICS

Canadian Press

Toronto, Nov. 28.—A further study of present cancer clinics and their technique will be undertaken by the Ontario Government and meanwhile the administration will cease making expenditures for radium treatment of the disease. The study will be made by a committee of medical men chosen by a body of doctors formed some days ago with Hon. J. D. Faulkner, Minister of Health, as chairman.

Three radium clinics situated at Kingston, Toronto and London, were established by the Henry government. Purchases of radium to date have amounted to $300,000.

Copper production in Austria is only about 6 per cent of that of 1929.

Return Planned of Whaling Industry

Seattle Man, in Washington, Tells of Plans to Bring Back Great Industry of Sea; Tells Latest Methods of Whaling

Washington, Nov. 28.—The rebirth of a once far-flung industry in both the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans was predicted for 1935 by Commander J. M. Carpenter of Seattle, in Washington, to negotiate for the purchase of a vessel for use in whaling in Alaskan waters.

Carpenter left for the West Coast last week to confer with his associates on details of a proposed programme which would revive the almost dead whaling industry in that area and once again bring Alaskan cities and Seattle into prominence as whaling ports. The commander, a retired naval officer, is president of the National Sea Products Corporation, which is preparing for large-scale whaling operations next year.

While talk of whaling recalls to the memory of old-timers in ocean ports the white-canvased windjammers with their small car-manipulated killer boats and the hand-thrown harpoons, a return to such methods is not contemplated by Carpenter. Instead his company plans to equip a large ship with a complete reduction plant and tanks capable of storing the oil from a season's catch. Carpenter described 125-foot killer boats, powered with a 1,500-horsepower steam engine and equipped with the latest type of harpoon gun.

IN FAR NORTH

The killers would take their catch to the mother ship and while the reduction process was going on aboard the vessel, would return to the chase in the waters of the Bering and Arctic.

Carpenter said his company would bring "back to the United States an industry of major importance amounting to some 400,000 barrels of whale oil" valued at around $24,000,000.

"It can readily be seen how important it is to re-establish the whaling industry in this country," Carpenter said, "for it will give employment to thousands of idle shipbuilders... and give permanent employment to a large number of men directly in the industry."

He predicted that more than $1,000,000 would be expended by the company in the purchase of killer vessels, reduction equipment and other machinery before operations start and added that supplies and equipment purchased annually on Puget Sound would amount to "several hundred thousand dollars."

Captain Sails On Last Voyage

Quebec, Nov. 28.—Departure from Quebec to-day of the Duchess of Bedford in command of Commodore James Turnbull will mark the last sea voyage as skipper for the widely-known sea captain, who is retiring, due to his having reached the age limit of sixty. Commodore Turnbull said he would live in the environs of London.

The veteran captain has been at sea for forty-five years both in the royal navy and the Canadian Pacific steamships. He is one of the survivors of the Halifax explosion, in which all his subordinates were killed.

WILL SPEAK ON TRAVELS

Miss Hilda Hesson Coming to Victoria to Tell of Visits to West Indies

Vancouver, Nov. 28.—A world traveler who has conducted parties of tourists to the British Isles and who last winter was director of entertainment on West Indies cruises of the Canadian Pacific Duchess liners out of New York, will arrive on the coast from Winnipeg over the coming week-end to fulfill an extensive list of speaking engagements in Vancouver, New Westminster, Victoria and Nanaimo.

She is Miss Hilda Hesson and she is being brought to the coast for a speaking tour by J. J. Forster, steamship general passenger agent of the Canadian Pacific.

Her first appearance will be at Hotel Vancouver Italian room at noon Monday, December 3, to address members of the Gyro Club. During the mid-week she will address smaller clubs and societies in Vancouver besides appearing at a big public meeting in Moose Hall at 8 o'clock Tuesday evening, under the auspices of the Women's Auxiliary of Christ Church.

Miss Hesson will address the Rotary Club at New Westminster Thursday afternoon, December 5, and Thursday evening will speak to the New Westminster Business and Professional Women's club.

On Friday evening, December 7, in Vancouver, Miss Hesson will lecture on "The Thrills of Scotland." In the Scots Auditorium under auspices of the St. Andrew's and Caledonian Societies. Motion pictures and slides of her travels will be used.

During the week of December 10-15, Miss Hesson will appear before Rotary clubs, Business and Professional Women's clubs and other societies in Vancouver, Victoria and Nanaimo.

NAVY NEGOTIATORS HOAX TAXPAYERS

Washington, D.C., Nov. 28.—One of the hardest facts behind the British-American-Japanese naval negotiations at London, though no one mentions it, is that the shores of none of the three nations is in any danger of naval attack from the other two.

Almost any naval officer will admit, after the first couple of days, that the "hoax" of a naval war is a very aggressive more than 2,000 miles from home and that to attack Japan this country, for instance, would need a navy three times treaty strength.

But although the United States cannot fight an aggressive war in either Europe or Asia, the "big navy" group here, as in Britain and Japan, is glad to let the general public imagine the country is strong enough to attack Japan.

These facts probably will not save taxpayers any money, but they may ease the strain when the next war comes.

APPLE BARON IN NORTHWEST

H. R. Kamstra, London, One of World's Greatest Apple Buyers, on Business Trip

Seattle, Nov. 28.—H. R. Kamstra of the firm of R. Kamstra Limited of London, one of the world's youngest and largest purchasers of the fruit for export, said that northwest apple shippers may expect a better market for their apples in January, provided the price is not excessive.

Kamstra, twenty-six years old and six feet three, is a powerful swimmer and takes a great deal of pride in his rugby game and his accomplishments in other sports. He is a graduate of Mill Hill College in Northwest London.

R. Kamstra Limited, London, is one of the largest importers of fruit in the United Kingdom and Continent.

Associated with FATHER The firm consists of Y. Kamstra of London, Kamstra's father, and R. Kamstra of Rotterdam and S. Kamstra of London. The firm has offices in Liverpool.

Kamstra came to Seattle from his native London, where he spent two months in Buenos Aires and five months in Rio de Janeiro, buying apples for his firm.

Heard the British steamship Cable Star of the Blue Star Line, which sailed from Seattle last week for the United Kingdom and the Continent, were fourteen. They were shipped northward, shipped by Kamstra.

HEAVY FRUIT SHIPPER He also had shipments on the Norwegian motorship Benjamin Franklin of the Fred Olsen Line, the British motorship Pacific Bellanca of the Furness Line, California Express of the Fruit Express Line, which sailed recently. Shipments for his firm also will be aboard the German motorship Seattle of the Hamburg-American Line and the Norwegian motorship John Bakke of the Cascade Line.

Kamstra will leave next week for London via Vancouver, Chicago and New York. He is making his headquarters in the offices of Laddell and Clarke Inc., exporters and steamship agents, while in Seattle.

The height is in feet and tenths of a foot, measured from the average level of water.

The course for height serve to distinguish high water from low water. Where the tide is in, the tide is in; where the tide is out, the tide is out.
